

Watch that watch salesman

A Torontonain was charged under Halton Hills 1975-76 Hawkers and Pedlars By-law for selling watches door to door without a licence.

Police are looking for unknown suspect(s) who have been slashing tires all over Georgetown. April 19, Georgetown Chrysler Ltd. on Guelph Street reported that 18 tires, on six new cars in their parking lot, were cut beyond repair.

While on patrol April 20, Constable Woudstra observed a parked car in the Georgetown Market with both front and back tires punctured—possibly by a knife.

A Mill Street resident found all the tires on his vehicle damaged by a sharp object on April 25.

The same day, a 16-foot blue canoe was stolen from the driveway of one of his Mill Street neighbours.

While a Brampton man, of Townhouse Crescent, was enjoying a meal at Mac Donald's Restaurant on Guelph Street April 24, his 1970 Valiant was taken from the parking lot. Police are searching for the suspect: a white female, five-foot, three inches, with light brown hair and a brown coat.

$250 worth of tools, including snap-on wrenches, pliers and vice grips, contained in a large, rusty, black metal box, were taken from a Burlington man's car. It was parked in a lot in 10 Division, Acton, on April 25, when the thieves broke into the passenger's side door.

P.C. Woudstra recovered a red Honda mini-bike at the rear of Harrison Public School early last week. The bike had been reported missing by a Georgetown resident, from the garage and adjacent to his home on Rexway Drive.

Three bicycles were stolen from the rear of Georgetown District High School last week, and one disappeared from the backyard of a Duncan Drive, Georgetown, home.

Two male suspects assaulted a Delrex Boulevard man as he was walking in the vicinity of Rexway Drive and Sargent Road on April 24. Ten dollars was stolen from the victim, but he was not injured.

The window on the north side of Holy Cross School, Georgetown, was smashed by a rock thrown by an unknown vandal.

Pritchard revising Peddlars bylaw

Clerk-administrator for Halton Hills, Doug Pritchard, is in the process of revising the Hawkers and Peddlars Bylaw in order to allow service clubs and community organizations to sell anything from cookies to fertilizer without having to acquire a license, at a cost of $100.

As a result of a request by the Georgetown Rotary Club for town permission to sell charcoal as a fund-raising venture in Georgetown the town's personnel and finance committee discovered that such ventures have not been taken into consideration in drawing up the bylaw.

"We don't want to end up having to require each Girl Guide who's out selling cookies to get a license," commented Councillor Ernie Sykes.

The committee turned the matter over to the clerk-administrator for a possible solution.

Full-time fire inspector news to dept.

A full-time fire inspector for Halton Hills and a second panel truck for the department have created a strong criticism of the town's 1976 budget among a few town councillors.

Councillor Ern Hyde last Tuesday night, as council was giving its final approval to the current budget, brought up the matter of the two large fire department expenditures claiming that the hiring of a second full-time member of the fire department for Fire Area 2 (Georgetown) had not been mentioned to the volunteer members of the department and was not particularly needed.

"This is just the thin edge of the wedge," said Hyde. "Mister Buikema (Fire Chief for Area 2) has had one goal since coming to Georgetown and that's been to get more paid men on our volunteer fire department."

Full-time men, said Hyde, would injure the morale of the volunteer corps seriously. The need for the additional fire inspector, said Hyde, had not been proven adequately.

"Our volunteers have had no input whatsoever into this decision," he added.

Councillor Hyde was successful in arousing council's opposition to the hiring of the fire inspector and the acquisition of the second panel truck. However he couldn't convince the council to vote against an $18,000 expenditure for landscaping at the Gordon Alcott Memorial Arena.

Not an issue for fence sitting

It is said that good fences make good neighbours and the policy of Halton Hills is in some cases to assist financially with the construction of fences between private and public property.

But at its meeting Monday evening when it tabled a number of requests from people in Georgetown and Acton seeking financial assistance for fence building, the works committee discovered that it did not have a written policy to guide itself in spending the $1,000 budgeted for fence building.

In dealing with the requests for financial assistance, the committee revealed that the policy, more or less, and depending on the classification of the town property abutting the private property, was to pay 50 percent of the cost of a chain link fence four feet high.

If the property owner wanted a higher chain link fence or even a wooden fence, the town's contribution would be based on a four-foot high chain link fence and nothing more. Maintenance costs of wooden fences would be borne by the property owner.

The committee decided to hold the matter over for another two weeks until its next meeting, until town engineer, Robert Austin, can submit a proposed written policy for approval.

Fire maps

The general administration committee approved the proposal of Fire Chiefs Mickey Holmes and Ken Buikema to prepare and circulate maps indicating the different areas covered by the local fire departments in the region. Milton and Erin have agreed to share the cost of this project with Georgetown.
