They accompanied the Georgetown Minor Mosquitoes Soccer Team on their Soccer Tour 76. Ten-year-old twins, Bobby and Michael, play on the team and although they didn't win they enjoyed playing the English and Scottish teams. They played four games in the Black Pool area of England and four games in the Glasgow area of Scotland.

While in England the Sweezy family stayed at a hotel in Black Pool. They visited an aunt and uncle in London and while there saw Buckingham Palace and other historical spots.

In Scotland they stayed at a Youth Hostel at Balhama and enjoyed this experience. They toured Edinburgh Castle and other spots of interest.

A highlight of the tour was attending the Scottish Cup Final with a crowd of about 90,000 people cheering on their team. They found this very exciting.

Mrs. Sweezy commented on the wonderful hospitality they received on the tour. She said it was just great.

Huttonville-Norval United Church church on Sunday morning in time for the noon lunch.

The evening ended with a Chinese food lunch and a social time was enjoyed.

The Junior Choir of Norval United Church put on a musical evening at Peel Manor, Brampton on Thursday evening, May 13. The senior citizens of the Manor enjoyed the singing of the children very much. The program also consisted of a singsong led by Mrs. Mary Williamson of Brampton and a couple of recitations by Don Crawford, "The Cremation of Sam McGee" and "If I Only Had 50 Cents".

Following the program the children served cookies. Hot chocolate and coffee were provided by the Manor.

About 15 adults accompanied the choir and they visited the patients in the Manor during the evening.

The Norval Bowling Club ended the season with a banquet held at the Odd-fellow's Hall, Georgetown on Saturday evening, May 15 catered to by the Rebecca Ladies.

L7G is adapting well to the postal code

Since its introduction to Ontario in 1972, Canada's unique postal code system has been widely accepted.

Local postmaster Robert Burgess estimated that 54 percent of Georgetown residents and businesses use the postal code. The statistics exclusively for businesses is even higher—75 percent for Dominion Seed House for example, which, like other companies and apartment buildings which receive in excess of fifty letters daily, has its own private code.

For the purpose of coding urban areas, each street is categorized according to odd and even house numbers, then divided again into smaller sections according to the volume of mail received.

Each code consists of: letter-number-letter-space-number-letter-number. For example the Georgetown post office's CODE is L7G 3Z0.

If a new subdivision is built, a map of the area indicating the location of the new streets and houses is sent from Georgetown to the southwestern Ontario District Office in London, where the coding is done.

In the larger centres where sorting machines are used, coding is time-saving, since letters which are addressed without the code must be sorted manually.

Although the mail volume in Georgetown is not great enough to warrant the purchase of a sorting machine it is still important to use codes for incoming as well as outgoing mail.

"Using codes makes it much easier to trace and find correct addresses," explained Burgess, who added, "It is essential for people writing letters to use the code with the address, and to inform people of their own postal code, for more efficient service."

Mystery marker

The gravestone of a man who died 124 years ago was found by Greg Law and Shawn Stroud in the wreckage of a building which is being demolished at the corner of Mill St. and Park St. in Georgetown. Although the stone was found intact, it suffered an accident and broke into six pieces. The inscription reads: "In memory of Henry E. Born June 29, 1815 (or 1812) Died May 13, 1852. Suffer little children to come unto me and forgive them not for of such is the kingdom of God."

Greg and Shawn took the stone to the town offices where it now is in the office of Grant Usher who is trying to figure out what to do with it. Mr. Usher said that since there is no last name on the stone, it cannot be traced and may not even be the gravestone of a former Georgetown resident.

Reed supports sexual bill

TORONTO-Halton-Burlington MPP Julian Reed gave approval Thursday at Queen's Park to a private members bill to protect people from discrimination because of sexual orientation or affectional preference.

The bill was put forward in the legislature by Margaret Campbell (Lib-St. George).

"For people of different sexual orientation, freedom and justice in the province are still smothered by prejudice. While we change the laws, it often takes time to change people's hearts," Mr. Reed said.

"The actions between consenting adults in private should not be the business of the state."

"I've said before we cannot legislate an end to discrimination and so we can't, but we must take the stand. While some of us will have to stand alone some times when it comes to matters of principle, I think that's one of the responsibilities we have," Mr. Reed said.

"It is with a sense of deep pride I support this resolution which is a matter of principle," the MPP said.
