STUDENTS OF PARK SCHOOL in Georgetown listen to David Steen, 34, of Terra Cotta, last Wednesday, when Steen—who with John Craig, wrote the book "Canada's Olympic Chances"—visited the school as part of the school's programme in Canada's Olympic year. Twice a gold medalist in the shotput in the Commonwealth Games (Jamaica 1966 and Edinburgh 1970), Steen told the students he started putting the shot when he was 12 years old. "I think maybe it takes that kind of dedication," he said, adding however, "You can train too hard." He advised students to try other sports to see what they like best. As for Canada's chances of winning gold medals at the Olympics, "It's like a horse race." Steen said one advantage Canadian athletes will have is that they will be competing on their home turf.

Students spray GDHS

GDHS was contaminated May 20 by chemical students, were spraying through different areas of the school, which got into the ventilating system. In connection with this, a charge was laid against a Georgetown youth alleged to have stolen two cans of a volatile substance known as "Defend U" from Quik-Pak Chemicals. The others involved in spraying have been identified.

Damages were incurred last week to two of the unfinished houses being built on Mary Street in Georgetown. Windows were broken and two cupboards and a thermostat were pulled off the wall by unknown suspects. Police will be carefully patrolling the area, which consists of 15 vacant houses.

stones thrown by unknown parties, May 17. A Guelph Street resident reported that the battery cables on his 1976 Dodge Dart had been cut by a wire cutter to enable an unknown thief to remove his battery. The right windshield arm was also missing from the car, left parked in the Guelph Street lot, May 18.

People need blood every day

Thousands of people each day throughout the world need blood. Transfusions are needed to save their lives. People in your country, your town, perhaps even your next door neighbour.

There just isn't enough blood on hand to meet these needs, and the needs are growing faster than the increase in blood donations.

You can help, by donating blood to the Red Cross. Blood that will be given free to people who need it. Giving blood takes only a few minutes. With it you can give someone else a lifetime.

Attend your local Blood Donor Clinic on June 7. . . Give Blood . . . Save Life.
