WIND DAMAGE TO LEAVES
 If the leaves on your shade trees are looking tattered, that doesn't necessarily mean it is time to get out the old spray can. Damage to tree leaves is not always due to insects, but may be caused by strong winds. Much of the damage to broad-leaved trees is caused by strong winds, particularly those severe wind storms in May. At that time the leaves were unfolding, beginning to expand and still very soft and easily bruised. Strong winds thrash the leaves against nearby twigs and against each other. The bruised tissue and leaf margins later dry up and drop away, leaving many slits, holes and ragged edges. Badly damaged leaves often end up looking like torn lace curtains.

In the summer the problem becomes confused by tent caterpillars, looper caterpillars or "inch worms", and June beetles adding to the damage. In some cases, the symptoms can even be mistaken for frost damage. By taking a close look at the leaves, you should be able to distinguish between insect damage and wind damage. Wind damage shows up as angular holes, the result of bruises to the parts of the leaves that were still folded when thrashing occurred. Damage by June beetles, on the other hand, appears as large rounded holes in the leaf blades. Caterpillars often feed on the leaf edge but do not usually leave badly tattered edges and irregular holes.

 Approximately 40 Halton 4-H members toured facilities at the University of Guelph on Thursday, July 22nd. Also present were five 4-H delegates and chaperone from Buffalo County, Wisconsin. The tour was conducted by Professor Stan Young.

The morning program involved a visit to the Land Resource Science Station where records are kept of weather and atmospheric changes. A wagon tour of the Crop Science Research Plots made up the second stop. The morning ended with an interesting visit to the Beef Cattle Research Station. Lunch was enjoyed at Elora Gorge Park.

The afternoon session began with a tour of the Dairy Cattle Research facilities. All stops to this point were part of the Elora Research Station. For a change of pace the group moved to the University Campus, Guelph and visited the new Arboretum Centre where over 1,200 varieties of plants are kept. This was the last stop for the day. Club leaders Stan May and Jeff Nurse took in the bus trip with the 4-H members.

 The Halton 4-H Beef Calf Club held their regular meeting on July 15th, where we were warmly welcomed at the farm of Fiat Patterson, Norval. The meeting was opened by Jim McKay, and Nancy McKinnon led the Club in the 4-H Pledge. Attendance was taken and the minutes were read by our secretary, Nancy McKinnon.

We then had one class of bulls and one class of cows to judge and to give reasons on. Bill Jackson gave us a type demonstration on what to look for in a cow. We judged both classes and the official placing was given on the bulls by Evelyn Gillies. The official placing for the cows was given by Bill Jackson. Our reasons were given to Evelyn Gillies, Bill Jackson and Mark Leahy. We split into our senior and junior groups for our lessons.

Refreshments were served. Nancy McKinnon thanked Mr. Patterson for having us and for the refreshments. Paul Wilkinson moved the meeting be adjourned. Charlotte Jaffray seconded the motion.

Next meeting will be held at the farm of Bill Jackson, where we will do show preparation.

Ballinafad residents return from holidays

By Mrs. WINNIFRED SMITH
 Herald Correspondent
 Dan and Linda O'Connor and daughters returned home Friday from a pleasant three week holiday in the United States.

Amie-Lyn O'Connor was home in time to celebrate her sixth birthday with a party Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Smith and son Stephen are back after spending a delightful vacation in British Columbia.

Wilfred Burt has returned home from St. Joseph's Hospital, Guelph, where he underwent surgery for the removal of a cataract.

Mrs. Archie McEnery attended a bridal shower for her granddaughter Beryl McEnery Saturday evening. Other relatives and friends from the village attended the happy gathering at the home of Mrs. Waldie.

A successful bake sale was held Saturday at the entrance of Carl Volmar's nursery on the seventh line. It was sponsored by the UCW.

At the Hull annual family get-together in Ballinafad in 1977, another family will be welcomed into the clan.

Joseph Hull, who immigrated to Canada in 1910 and lived in Ashgrove for a few years, had an older brother who moved to India in the early 1900's. Prior to that, he lived in Gloucester, England.

A son of the brother in India, born there, moved to St. Catharines. Knowing he had relatives in Canada, he tried to trace them by inquiring and looking for the family name in the telephone directory.

He contacted the only Hull in St. Catharines, George Hull, son of Joseph Hull.

All the Hull family history seems to tie in with the Leslie Hull of St. Catharines.

Mrs. F. Smith and Mrs. Albert Smith, both living in the Ballinafad area, were daughters of Joseph Hull.

The Hulls of St. Catharines visited the two sisters at the Smith farm Saturday, and had a great time comparing pictures and delving into family history.

There is a new home being erected on the farm property owned by Mrs. Rita Shortbill. Reverend Stiles will be welcomed back to his place in the pulpit Sunday after enjoying a few weeks holiday.

The children of Ballinafad and area have been enjoying the summer playground program at the community centre.

Mrs. Ivan Bird and children are enjoying a vacation in England, visiting relatives. Ivan spent the first three weeks of his vacation there, and Jean is on an extended visit until school commences.

FIREFIGHTERS discuss what they saw after coming out of the "smokehouse". They all said you couldn't see your hand before your face.
