sponsored by the hall board at the community centre Saturday night. Dan O'Connor won the door prize. It was the first of the fall-winter season's monthly dances.

Many Ballinafad residents, relatives and friends gathered at the community centre Friday night to celebrate the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Thompson. They are both well known here as she was a Ballinafad girl. The Thompsons now live in Acton where he is a business man.

We join others in wishing them many more years of happy married life.

The weatherman cooperated with the many outdoor festivities last weekend. Friday night Miss Kim Jasper of Erin was chosen Queen.

One of her competitors, Miss Laurie Quackenbush representing Coningaby W.I., is a member of the choir at Ballinafad church, as her contribution to the program. Laurie gave a reading on "achievements".

Congratulations to all the girls entered.

Ten ladies from Ballinafad attended the 75th anniversary of Halton District's Women's Institute.

The celebration, held in the Oak Room of the new Milton arena, was last Wednesday afternoon. There were guest speakers and a luncheon.

TWO ENTRIES IN POTATOFEST PARADE

Hillsburgh's potatofest parade Saturday featured two entries from Halton Hills: the Georgetown Majorette and Drum Corps (below) and Acton Citizen's Band. Pictured above is clown Wayne McMahon of Orangeville, mounted in a homemade replica of Snoopy's plane on the Watson family float which placed second. The first prize went to Ross McKay school in Hillsburgh for its motorized red paper mache boot representing "Mother Goose". Third placers were the Gundy family, with a float creatively crowded with antiques. The parade marched to the Hillsburgh fairgrounds where the three day festival continued.
