

Drug use grows

Use of drugs by Oakville students is increasing but it is not the epidemic that was reported in some newspapers early this year, Halton board of education learned Thursday.

A committee of the board which investigated the reports of drug use in Oakville schools said drug usage is on the increase in the community as the population increases.

This year there have been 65 drug related occurrences accounting for over 100 arrests in Oakville. Most of those arrested are in the 16 to 19 age group.

Drugs seem less a problem now than in the 60's, the board was told, because although youth are using them, they are handling them better. There is little or none of the bizarre behaviour and usage varies from school to school.

Trustee Jim Clelland, Len Crosier and Elsie Hinson, who all were on the committee, recommended that the police work more closely with the schools in combating student drug use. They also suggested that the board set some policy to support school principals in drug investigations which occur in schools and possible suspensions for drug users and pushers.

Students fast for Cansave

Acton high school students who went without lunch last Wednesday raised $330 for Canadian Save the Children Fund.

The sum is enough to feed the children of about five overseas villages for a year, teacher Eva Sansom told about 140 hungry students at the end of the fast at 7 p.m. after the last two rock bands turned off music.

The fast day at the school was one week later than a national fast day and was a class project for 14 students in Mrs. Sansom's environmental class who were studying the work problems of food and population.

One of the classmates, Howard Shaw, is the leader of the rock band Mirage and he got another band, Twilight, and his own to donate their services.

Students paid a dollar to get into the auditorium to hear the two rock bands but without lunch, they didn't feel like dancing.

Some of the money was raised from Acton merchants, Mrs. Sansom said.

Two injured in area accident

A vehicle driven by Daniel Fournier, of Oakville went out of control on the Fifth Line, east on Tenth Line, striking a boulder and rolling over twice before landing on its roof. Mr. Fournier and passenger Joy Troupe, also of Oakville received injuries and were treated and later released from Georgetown and District Hospital. Damage estimated to the car is $3,000.

Family talent night held

St. John's United Church in Georgetown held its family talent night Sunday April 17. Families participated as groups including the Kellingtons, Allens, Flebigs, Miltons, Fasketts, Jacques, Kellys, MacDonalds, Colletto and Mills.

Charlie Kellington (referred to as St. John's Super-Star) was emcee for the evening, and introduced other participants Kimberly French, Brenda Morrow, Terri Hammond, Lisa Greens, Lauri Sutherland, Noel Lewis, Cheryl Hauser, Carolyn Bld, Brenda McNeil, Lou Darcie, Tom Darcie and Bernard Shrubsole.

Highlights of the talent show were piano solos and duets, guitar selections, a recorder group directed by Dave Shrubsole, percussion and guitar, a square dance demonstration, humorous skills and Hal Llewellyn displayed yodelling.

The night was well attended and from the number of participants the future may hold a "two-night" production.
