ON THE HOME FRONT

Dieting!

By SUSAN De FACENDIS

My husband had to perform some rather intricate gyrations recently in order to squeeze into an almost new suit. Ruefully surveying his expanded waistline, a legacy of the holiday season, he announced he was going on a diet. My man is not usually noted for suffering in silence and firmly believes that if he has to deny himself, so should everyone else around him. After all, where is the fun in self-sacrifice if no one knows about it?

Consequently, with his pronouncement, groans of dismay arose from the rest of us who, being somewhat on the svelte side, believe we need all the sustenance we can scrounge up at the dinner table.

Now if there is anything worse than a man on a diet, it is an Italian man on a diet, for whom food approaches a mystical experience far surpassing a mere life-support measure. I could not help but wonder just how this incredible shrinking man act would be accomplished.

Knowing him well and realising that his agony would be difficult if not well-nigh impossible to bear, we decided to make things as easy as possible for him and pizza, pasta and bread were forthwith banned from the house.

Admittedly we did attempt to put up a bold front at the dinner table. We tried sparkling conversation as a food substitute and Teresa even managed to keep her elbows off the table as a diversion. However, with his soulful eyes watching every morsel of food leaving our plates, the guilt trip simply proved to be just too much for us to take.

Our meagre evening meal being rapidly cleared away with hardly a gungey saucepan in sight, after all, how many pots does it take to prepare celery stalks, we waited in ill-conceled impatience for the man of the house to carry his fast-weakened body down the television set. Three starving children and their mother immediately degenerated into 'closet snackers'. Barley giving father time to totter shakily down the stairs, silent in-fighting at the door of the refrigerator began and massive platefuls of crackers and cheese, peanut butter sandwiches, and bowts of corn flakes were hurriedly distributed. Fleet-footee children dispersed with their secret horde of goodies to the bedrooms, while I hid under the kitchen table clutching a precious, energy sustaining slice of salami - and this (grown) was only the first day.

How long, the cry went up, would it be before Dad's waistline returned to normal and we could all eat openly and honestly again at the table?

Naturally it was not too long. Two hours after dinner, if such a poor repast could be so dignified by the term. the first complaints of weakness and dizziness plaintively floated up from the nether regions of the recreation room.

While to my critical eye he did not appear exactly 'waisted' I have to admit he gave the battle of the bulge a good try. And, as I tried to reassure him, if Burt Reynolds' chest every allps to half-mast, why, no one will ever be able to tell them apart.

Limehouse news

Mrs. A. W. BENTON

Herald correspondent The W. I. met at the home of Mrs. Anderson on Thur.

evening. The president Mrs. Booth read a short item and the Ode and Collect were repeated in unision. Notes of thanks were received from a number who had received gifts at Christmas, and thank you from the Sick Children's Hospital Foundation for a donation. Mrs. Kirkwood accepted an appointment as delegate to the Officers' Conference at Waterloo University May 2 to Bring a craft and explain it. the roll call, brought samples of needlepoint, macrame, tatting, hooked rugs, rick rack flowers, even a chair with a needlepointed seat. Convenors read short reports and Mrs. Devereaux read current events. Mrs. Benton introduced crafts woman, Mrs. Roger Beck, who showed samples of wood from the fleece to yard, to knitted and woven articles. She demonstrated crading, drop spindle and spinning by

She had yarns from various animals, and even human hair. Mrs. Booth thanked the speaker and extended courtesies. Mrs. Anderson and

Mrs. Davies served a nice lunch after. Mrs. Kirkpatrick has returned from a couple of months with her daughter. Mrs. John Foster at Head Lake near Kirkfield.

We don't like to hear of homes burning anytime, but in winter it seems much worse. We are sorry to hear that Mr. Louth lost his cottage on the 4th line by fire late Saturday night.

By MRS. G. DENNY BROWNIES

After a month of cancellations the Brownies had their first meeting of the new year on Feb. 1. At the meeting the girls planned their project for the upcoming Thinking Day. Future trips and events were also discussed. January's sleep-over at Brown Owl's (Marni Wilsie) was set for another date in February.

GUIDES The Guides also had many cancellations in the month of January due to bad weather conditions. We did however manage to go on a swimming outing to the Acton Lions Pool on Jan 31. After swimming we enjoyed drinks and pizza at the Olympia drive-in restarant. It was a super fantastic trip and I must praise the girls for their excellent behaviour. We were very proud of them all.

By GEORGE EVASHUK Herald staff writer

Developer Bruce McLaughlin came to Georgetown to deliver "fire and brimstone" speech but after dinner with the Georgetown Jaycees It turned into a "fireside chat."

The Jaycees fed him his choice of yeal or sole, fined him ten cents for a minor infraction, then let him pull up a chair and tell them why he is embroiled in a battle with the elected representatives of Halion Hills ratepayers.

The last time he was in Georgetown at council chambers trying to speak to the planning board, he was ejected from the meeting and held a press conference in a windy, wintery parking lot.

was an attempt "enlist your support to reverse the decision of your planning board and council," he told the Jaycees. His conflict with the town's representatives has become "a test of morality, logic, judgment and fair play," he said. And to see that he wins he is prepared to sue Halton Hills for "millions and millions of are turning the country into as I live," he vowed, "because out." I'm right and for justice." But the real losers in the battle are the "ordinary Joes" who can't afford housing, he said. When voters go to the polls in November they will have to ask themselves if there

By WINIFRED SMITH

Herald correspondent

W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Jamleson, as president, opened the meeting by reading

a few words of wisdom followed by all repeating the W.I.

Fourteen members and one visitor answered the roll call

by naming a Shakespearlan

play and quoting a few lines

_Mrs. Ada Kirkwood was appointed the delegate to attend the officers' conference in

Mrs. Shortill, as convenor

for education and cultural activities then took over the meeting and called on Mrs.

Smith for the motto which was,

"Annual ther's Heart is Her

Mrs. Given gave current events. There were some interesting reports given by the standing committee convenors. Mrs. Grace McEnery gave an interesting reading taken

The program ended with

from a teachers' publication.

Mrs. Shortill showing illustrations of beautiful paintings by

It was voted to have coffee

and dessert before the March meeting begins instead of the

Mrs. Viola Shortill and Mrs.

Slessoraitis assisted the hostess with the serving of a dainty;

Every one will be glad once again to receive their copy of the newsletter put out by the

Congratulations to the new editor Sandra Henderson for an informative piece of read-

the artist Ken Danby.

usual afternoon tea.

Community Centre.

Child's Schoolroom."

Mrs. Reta Shortill.

Creed and Ode.

from it.

The February meeting of the

is "room for their neighbours and room for their children," and "Can there be a prosperous society without growth?" Mr. McLaughlin charged Halton Hills council and planning board as being "grossly unfair," and acting "contrary to the rule of law." He took an opportunity to recite that eredo of the Jaycee Club which states: "That government should be of laws rather than

"If we lose that," he added. "we lose democracy, and we have." The position of Halton Hills council is "contrary to their contractual obligations, to legislation in the Planning Act and the express objections of senior (Onlario) cabinel ministers," he said, "Through His appearance last Tuesday their anti-development measures, all (such) municipalilies have doubled and tripled the price of housing."

And when anti-development councils are voted out of office. "history will say (they) took away the opportunity for an ordinary Joe to own his own paper pushers rather than pro-"The battle will go on so long ducers", who are "getting His company, which had assets grow from $25 million in 1972 to $300 million in 1975, and he himself are "in for 20 more years, but we'll get out if we have to put up with the law-

Ballinafad district news

ing. There are extra copies left at the store for those who didn't receive one. The newsletter was developed to keep the community informed of the upcoming dances, also includ-

The "Sweetheart" Dance

will be Feb. 18 and you are asked to bring along your favorite casserole for a pot luck supper. Tickets are avail-

Due to the efforts of Mr. Ivan

Bird the 10c movie will be through the cooperation of the library the first of a series of

The movie will begin at 7:30,

so klds, save your allowance

and bring along Mom and Dad and make it a family night.

When was the last time you went to a movie for 10 centa?

ly flew up from Brownles to 2nd Acton Guides spent the (Wednesday) get the first of two chances in town to voice their opinions on the draft official plan which will take

Halton to the turn of the

The meeting begins lonight meeting to Feb. 23 at the Alcott

After the public meetings.

eight in all, the draft copy will be reviewed, and, according to the planners, ". . . represent the council's interpretation of what the residents of Halton

In Georgetown, the century.

First chance today

Halton Hills residents today aspire to and what problems

to see draft plan

Susan O'Connor who recent-short features will be shown.

shown again. On Feb. 24

ed a variety of activities.

able at the store.

"Anti-development councils

lessness of councils."

Without the co-operation of councils it is "almost Impossible to achieve development," he said, and charged the provincial government with being "afraid to take away the developing authority from councils after it has been abused."

Halton Hills council "changes the rules according to their whim, a mode of behavior he described as "foul play." Devclopers used to say, 'Let's keep a low profile and don't fight city hall," but all that is changing now, he sald.

"We really don't approve one iota of what anti-development councils are doing," he said. Developers do not build just for the sake of building but to fulfill the needs of people for housing, he said. "We are first class citizens as you are."

He said the media since 1972 has become "anti-development," part of the reason why developers have such poorpublic image these days. "Our trademark in the development industry, is quality, and Canadian builders are among the best in the world," he said.

"Ask yourself as you go the pulls: "Where will our children live? Where will our neighbors live? Where will we work? And who will be able to afford anything after this conrontation is over?"

Anti-development is "a con taglous disease in the community carried from council to council," he said. As far as Halton Hills council is concer-

weekend camping at Clifford with other members of the Gregory Snow, son of Mr.

and Mrs. Bud Snow is spending some time visiting his sisters

In Edmonton, Alberta. He arrived just in time to see the older sister Louise, before she,

with her husband and family

made the move to B.C. where brought to our attention last week when we heard that

Stephen Garton, a student of Pembroke High School ws the program of the whole of Can-

Stephen who is 17 is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Garton of Pembroke and a grandson of Mrs. Archie McEnery who is a resident here, his mother being Yvonne McEnery before

The final copy not expected until the fall, will need the approval of the minister of housing and the Ontario Muni-

When adopted by council.

the plan wil affect social and health services, capital funding, land management, natural resources, housing, water and sewer services and trans-plan can be sent to the regional planning committee up to Written comments on the marriage. Congratulations.

need to be solved."

cipal Board.

best in the physical fitness

Some Interesting news was Acton Guides.

they will be living.

Developer's 'fireside chat' with Georgetown Jaycees

BRUCE McLAUGHLIN

ned, "we're going to do our best to find out why they don't like the filt of our kilt." Mr. McLaughlin explained some aspects of the contract he has with Halton Hills which has been approved by municipal bylaw and by the province treatment plants and highways are "red herrings" intended to waive "the intent of honorable men."

The intent which is to build 1.8400 homes on 350 acres of form land in south Georgetown below Silver Creek and on both sides of Mountainview Road," is crystal clear," he said. "The morality of a nation is only as good as its leaders," and once a deal has been struck "they cannot back out."

"It's said that capital is a coward," Mr. McLaughlin conlinued, "and these men are driving it out of our country. .They're saying we can't ply our trade.

Mr. McLaughlin said that in the past decades he has built two million housing units and "thousands of shopping centres," which produce $100 million in tax revenue each year. Hems such as parks, libraries and arenas, "are trinkets for what's going down the drain in lost tax revenue."

The building industry accounts for 18 per cent of the Gross National Product and is "a generator of economic well being, he said. "The economy is in trouble because of little men who don't understand the rule of law, but who do get us into a mesh of entangle-

In a question period following the "fireside chat," Mr. McLaughlin said Halton Hills council cannot change the rule of law by taking out the benefit from a contract, then passing a retroactive law to "wipe out" the contract. That is "an act of bad faith. . . That's not fair

But councils are only the delegates of the province and the provincial Planning Act says developers have the right to apply to build housing and get a reply in 30 days, he said. Since the Act was passed, planning is being done in more depth, he said, "but not ten years." Any change in the Planning Act, however, must come "by due process (of

He said that before 1946, land use "was as you saw fit, then came the Planning Act. . today you apply forever. That's why the rule of law has broken

Land to a Butter the

Asked what type of housing he wanted to build below Silver Creek, Mr. McLaughlin sald single homes. "We're prepared to eliminate all apartmenis." There would be "moderate ranged houses. . . about $50,000." Other municipalities have allowed 30 foot lots, "but here it's primarily 50 foot. single dwelling."

Mr. McLaughlin's vice-president for Ontario, Ernest Bodnar, who has lived in Georgetown about 10 years, said the houses would be "almost identical" to those in the Delrex subdivision, which has developed by Rex Heslop from whom Mr. McLaughlin purchased the contract.

Mr. McLaughlin also gave the Jaycees a glimpse of his philosophy. There are two great forces in society, he contended, "economic determinism," and "political delerminism."

"You often get idealists and psuedo-intellectuals who say there is something wrong with development," Mr. McLaughlin sald in explaining "economic determinism." And as well as with their ballots. and said issues such as sewage "people vote with their dollars. If you don't get the votes, you go out of business."

"Political determinism puts terrible amounts of power in council's hand," he said, "You need to be careful about who it is given to. Political determinism is more important and stronger than economic determinism."

Mr. McLaughlin said he is ready to meet with council and discuss their differences. "If there is fair play, we'll be extremely reasonable. But if there's confrontation, we'll get tougher. We are going to face up to the challenge of the confrontation." .

He said the industry and business won't come to a community which doesn't honor its contract. There's a heavy dull black cloud hanging over this community."

Unless a confrontation is avoided, Mr. McLaughlin said, "Your taxes will go up." But if he is allowed to build the subdivision, "your taxes won't go up," because of any cost to the municipality of the subdivision. He told The Herald later in an interview he would post a bond good for "three or four years," as a guarantee.

He warned the 33 Jaycees that private property signs will be erected on the land he owns in Halton Hills, with fences soon after and "maybe guard dogs. Council forces us to fight and we will until we win or are proven dead wrong."

His development is worth $108 million and there are other lands not under contract that "we'd like to develop," he said, "On that scale any problems (Halton Hills council has) mentioned are managable without a penalty to the com-

To another questloner, Mr. McLaughlin explained an economic formula developers use to set their return on investment. The passage of time "drives up the price of a house and we can't regain lost

The basis of the argument between him and Halton Hills is sewage capacity on which the Ontorio Municipal Board will rule he sald. (The hearings will reopen May 1 when the town's arguments will be presented). Sewage capacity is the factor which will keep the lid on Georgetown at about 50,000 population until a better technology is developed, he

But there already exists, he added, an "aeroble sewage system" which could service a population of 20,000 and "where nothing goes into the stream."

In an effort to take talks going, he said he is prepared to contribute 270 acres of valley land to Halton Hills. He said industrial development could be attracted to town by selling the land cheap-Mr. Bodnar said Halton Hills council has been offered a planning study and a special levy to pay for unforessen ilems. "But it is irksome to be confronted by a financial analysis by the town which lays on a level of service three times in excess of the rest of the town." Mr. Bodnar sald that without industrial development there would be a half a mill increase on the tax to ratepayers for the cost of education. The impact of industrial assessment on the tax load has diminished because of regional education and regional services, Mr. McLaughlin also attacked a member of the working press. He accused the reporter of being "blased" and having a "closed mind." And although it was the first time either had ever seen each other, Mr. McLaughlin said, "I don't like you." He charged the reporter with asking him "trick questions" But lafer, Mr. McLaughlin admitted to the reported over a handshake that "kicking the media," is "all part of the game.' At the conclusion of his "fireside chat," Mr. McLaugh-Iln accepted a gift of a book on the history of Georgetown, mingled with the Jaycees and posed for photos.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

Robert H. Cranfield, D.C. CHIROPRACTOR

10 Mountalhview Rd. South FOR APPOINTMENT CALL 877-4288

ROY H. EVANS, D. C. Chiropractor

120 Guelph St.

Phone 877-7333

CHIROPRACTOR

70 Mill Street, Georgetown

For Appointment

PHONE: 877-6631

CHARTERED

ACCOUNTANTS

Goebelle

&Wagner

CHIROPRACTORS PRINTING PROFESSIONAL G. W. Corbett, D. C.

PRINTING THE HERALD

877-2201 OPTOMETRISTS

Dr. R. R. Hamilton

OPTOMETRIST

Carretal Professional Building 16 Mountainview Road S. Georgelown, Ontario

TELEPHONE $77-1971

Dr. W.B. Foley OPTOMETRIST

Suite 204 10 Mountainview Rd. S. GEORGETOWN

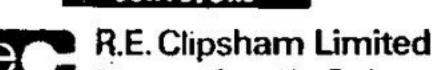

877-7770

37 Main Street South

Halton Hills (Georgetown) Ontario L7G 3G2

877-5155

SURVEYORS

Surveyors • Consulting Engineers

16 Moradamyew Boarf South Suite 101, Hatton Hills (Georgetown) Ontario L/t. 181 (416) 877 2211 457 2002

Council rejects advance

Halton Hills council overruled a recommendation Monday which would have given members of the press a copy of council agendas the Monday morning of the council or committee meetings.

The motion was lost on a tie vote which councillor Walter Biehn, chairman of committee of the whole decided by his nay Councillor Biehn is a former newspaper man who was editor and publisher of The Herald for about 30 years. Coun. Roy Booth said if coples of the agendas are given to the press, they also have to be given to everybody. By withholding the agendas until the meeting time, staff would be free of a "bombardment of

Are you NEW-TO-TOWN, or have you just moved into a new home???????

questions all day."

Would like to call on you WITH "HOUSEWARMING GIFTS" and Information about Georgetown.

For this information and Housewarming gifts, call Joan Gillesple at:

877-4812

Quality and savings are our concern

PE

POTATOES

69°

Treat your family grocery budget to these specials from Joe and Frank

JOE SCIBILIA

Remember! We offer a good variety of FRANK CUZZUPE cold meats at competitive prices. CALIFORNIA RED GRAPES REG. 776

BANANAS

USA No. 1 CELERY ONTARIO GOLDEN DELICIOUS

APPLES 5 1b. bag 00C

TURNIPS

CHECK THE YELLOW TAGS FOR MORE IN-STORE SPECIALS.

GEORGETOWN FRUIT MARKET

140 GUELPH ST.

REG. 91c

10 lb. bag

We are Open Sundays! (100 Yards East of the Former Store)

877-8882

Get movin' to Metro Trust!

There's been lots of talk about free cheques lately. Trouble is, it rarely mentions the strings attached. Like a minimum monthly balance.

Open a Chequing Account at Metro Trust and we'll give you unlimited chequing. Absolutely free. No strings. Open a Metro

Trust Savings Account with a Chequing Account and we'll give you more than free cheques. We'll pay you high interest on your money. Money management is our business. And we're willing to go a little further to make it nicer for you to do business with us right now, and in the future. (For example, to make it easy for you, many of our branches are open Saturdays too.) But the first step is yours. Just step into Metro Trust, and tell us

Member Canada Deposit Insurance Corporation Milton: 55 Ontario St. S. (Milton Mall) Tel. 878-4173