

Georgetown minor hockey results

Doug Barnes scored one of his three goals on this play Friday night to lead the Raiders to a 9-4 win over the Fort Erie Mavericks. Barnes and Ricky Becker, who also just recently joined the team, both played strong games against the Mavericks.

Barnes, Becker star in Raiders 9-5 victory

Doug Barnes, in only his second game as a Raider this year scored three goals and added an assist to lead the Georgetown Chrysler Raiders to a 9-4 victory over the Fort Erie Mavericks at Alcott Arena on Friday night.

Barnes, who starred with the Georgetown Gemini for three years, was on the ice for the Raiders' first six goals. The winger only saw part-time action as he was on a line which had only Doug Tate as a constant member. Barnes was splitting the time on the line with Ricky Becker and Bob Fotheringham.

Becker, who also dressed for only his second game, also had an excellent night as he scored twice and added an assist. Tate was back to his early season form scoring twice and helping set up another goal. Fotheringham chipped in with three assists.

The win was a very important one for the Raiders as it snapped a four-game losing streak, their longest of the season. It also gave the Raiders some much needed momentum to carry with them into the playoffs.

The Raiders dominated the first period and took a 2-0 lead on goals by Tate, from Jean Lutiulippe and Fotheringham, and Barnes, from Fotheringham and Brad Butterworth.

However, the Raiders squandered that lead with some lackadaisical play late in the period which led to Maverick goals by Pat Flynn and Kevin Kranics.

Becker looked very good in the first period as he set up both Fotheringham and Tate for excellent scoring chances on his very first shift. When Barnes took over his spot on the line, Tate moved to center. The Raiders' third line completely dominated play in the second period no matter who was playing on it. Tate put the Raiders ahead again with Butterworth getting his second

Judo a very safe sport says Acton instructor

By SUE LEHN

The Acton Hatashta Judo Club has been run here for the past one and a half years and is registered with the Ontario Judo Black Belt Association. Oliver Reynolds, who has been involved in judo for 13 years, teaches members at Acton High School on Tuesday nights. Bill Manson, Canadian Heavyweight Champion for the past 3 years, and who has a black belt, has also been in Acton to assist Reynolds.

Although judo (which in Japanese means "gentle way") may look like a rough sport to outsiders, it is unusual that you find injuries.

"If you get an injury it's your own fault, you weren't prepared or you didn't fall right," said Reynolds. "I never blame the person who made the throw."

One of the reasons Reynolds thinks serious injuries are so rare in judo is that the first thing new students learn is how to fall without being hurt. Falling is one of the most valuable things they will learn, and can also be applied to other sports, such as skiing.

There are basically two types of judo: recreational judo and competitive judo. Competitive style judo is completely different from recreational-style judo. The size helps students learn more skills at a faster pace. Although club members are at varying belt levels, they are all taught in the same class.

"This way the kids can learn some skills above their belt level, and it will be easier for them later when they move up," says Reynolds. The club's small size, however makes it uneconomical to have more than one class per week.

All members must wear a judo gi (the special outfit for judo). The suit is worn mainly to follow tradition, but the heavy cloth of the judo gi makes it very hard to tear, and yet loose enough to move about in freely. Reynolds insists on bare feet and explains his position "Would you rather be kicked by someone wearing shoes or bare feet?" Those who do not wear the judo gi with bare feet are not allowed to participate.

Reynolds feels the main benefits of judo are increased fitness and and the sports value of self-defense. There is a lot of movement and exercise involved in judo, and Reynolds says, "You can easily knock someone unconscious, or even kill them." It is surprising that, with self-defense becoming increasingly popular more adults are not attending classes. Judo is not just a hobby, it is a skill that may prove invaluable one day.
