Plan first
The key to effortless clean-up is to plan first, then attack. Think about what items and appliances you use. Then follow the old adage: store where first used, store where easily seen and reached, and store safely.

Basic work centers include the sink area, the cooking and serving area, and the food mixing area. Make a list of equipment you own that belongs in each center.

Think in centers
Mixing bowls, spatulas and other food preparation items belong near the food mixing center; coffee pots and dishwashing supplies should be near the sink center; and pasta, spices and pot holders are handy near the cooking and serving center.

Once you have the planning stage accomplished, it's easy to begin. I banish as accumulated clutter first. This includes burnt and twisted pots, cracked or chipped china and glasses, and odd-sized jars. Remove never-used items and move away the better items you no longer use.

Certain equipment is used only once or twice a year. Wrap label, and then store these items in the basement or attic.

You may want to number each item and make a list to keep in your desk area. Then when the need arises for a stored piece of equipment takes muscle — a cubic foot weighs nearly 100 pounds so, if you are planning to haul some in, consider an alternative add and mix in higher organic materials such as peat moss, fertilizer product mulch or compost. One important point: all are low in plant food so be sure to add

Soil tips

Enrich soil. Moving soil takes muscle — a cubic foot fertilized to the soil.

But quality. Early spring is packaged rose time. If you are considering them for your garden, buy early and pick No. 1 grade stock. Avoid bargain end of the season clearance sales as plant quality drops the longer they are kept on dry, warm store shelves.

The Energy Savers

Catch up with a retrofit

It's never too late to retrofit. Because there is no better way to save money than to reduce your heat bill, but there is no better time to do it than now. It's time to take advantage of the energy retrofit programs available to Canadians. Call us for more information on how to get started.

NEW HOME OF THE WEEK

ALPINE COTTAGE

Get the most out of life with this unique summer cottage, featured as the plan of the week.

The heavy shake roof is complemented by the ginger bread trim of the gables. Vertical battens on the walls, decorative railings, with the clever use and design of the support beams, create an attractive exterior. There's a driveway under the sundeck, which can be enclosed, leave it as a carport as shown, or if it's more desirable close it in for storage.

Directly from the carport illustrated here, the outside stairway leads to the large sundeck and front entrance. At the side, it's only a few short steps from the back door and kitchen.

Double doors from the sundeck open to a spacious living area, created by combining the living and dining rooms. The entire front and dining side of this area feature windows, with a maximum of daylight. A free standing fireplace (the acorn type) can be installed in the living room, beside the staircase, with the flue running up through the exposed joists to the roof. For quick lunches and snacks, there is an "eating bar", which allows convenient service to the dining room as well.

Designed for easy meal preparation, the compact kitchen has the range and oven enclosed at the end of one counter, and the fridge at the other end of the counter, close to the twin sink, for convenient food preparation. The back door allows convenient access for all household supplies.

The smaller of the two bedrooms is perfect for weekend guests, as it has its own window, closet space and privacy.

On the second floor the master bedroom has a large closet and a view window to the rear. A bonus feature is the sleeping loft for those extra guests that bring their sleeping bags. In one corner is a planter where trailing plants will hang directly over the eating bar and benefit from the maximum daylight. Double doors from the loft open to the balcony at the front, which completes the design of this Alpine cottage.

Plans for design No. P10 2 121 may be obtained at a cost of $40 for a set of three and $8 for each additional copy. Allow $2 to cover postage and handling.
