

Minor soccer Pee Wees one and two so far

The McArthur Catering Minor Pee Wee soccer team have played three games in the new Pee Wee League. The first game away in Milton the score ended tied at 1-1 with Howie Oram scoring for McArthur. The following game was a home match against Brampton which the visiting team won 4-0.

On June 7 the team visited the Rexdale Titans, a team that they had previously defeated in an exhibition game by the score of 2-1. The evening started badly with a traffic pile-up on the 401 but finally eight players arrived and the game started 15 minutes late. Fortunately the remaining players arrived after about 10 minutes and at that time the score was still 0-0. The Rexdale team had exerted considerable pressure during the opening 10 minutes and they finally scored on a play that started on the left wing and ended with an excellent shot by the right winger that was unstoppable.

The McArthurs then applied the pressure and were unfortunate not to score on a shot by Howie Oram which had the goalie beaten but hit the crossbar and on another play started by Kevin Gillespie who took the ball down the left wing and crossed to Eric Clark who just failed to score. The second Rexdale goal resulted from a mix up concerning a free kick awarded to McArthurs just inside the penalty area. The kick was taken and the ball cleared but the referee decided to have the kick retaken and Rexdale immediately scored. The first half ended with the score 2-0 for Rexdale.

The second half was dominated by Georgetown with the pressure and were unable to score on a shot by Howie Oram which had the goalie beaten but hit the crossbar and on another play started by Kevin Gillespie who took the ball down the left wing and crossed to Eric Clark who just failed to score. The second Rexdale goal resulted from a

Kingsmen League results

By Theresa Gallagher
This year it has been decided by the league that there will not be a competition for the home run queen for both the Junior and Seniors. We are happy to announce that there are still available positions for girls 10-13 years of age to play baseball.

SENIORS
Varian 23 - Saxe Realtors? Umpires - Donald Ballentore Bill Douran
Varian really poured on the power both offensively and defensively. Rhonda Ritchie, Debbie Osborne and Sylvia Girardi each belted out two home runs. Joan Gilmer and Sylvia Washbourne had home runs off their bats.

Pitchers were Sylvia Girardi and Connie Hay. Game stars were Rhonda Ritchie, Lisa Switzer and Islay McClure.

JUNIORS
D.Q. 27 - United Rentals 11 Umpire - Bill Anderson
United Rentals took a two-run lead in the first but lost it to a strong fighting team. Dairy Queen pulled in the maximum amount of seven runs three times.

Paulines 16 - Fred Harrison 9
Umpire - P. Butler
Heather Wallace was the big star of the game. Each time Heather was up to bat she hit a home run. Barb McKeeman had the other home run of the game.
Pitchers were Heather Wallace and Rosemary Gale.

Blue Glans 19 - Youngs 5
Umpire - Joan Dickson
The Giants managed to keep Youngs score down to a minimum while they piled up their own. Kim Thompson and Cheryl Jackson had the only home runs in the match.
Taking their place on the mound were Julie Fournier, Donna Sedore and Carol Pearson. Game stars were Cheryl Jackson and Kim Thompson.

Geo. Welders 39 - Mag. Ins. 22
Umpire - Gene Daniels
Magnusons took a 5-3 lead in the first inning of play and kept it until the fifth when the Welders came out with a 23-21 edge. Home runs went like this: Darlene Currie 2, Jackie Chapman 1, Karen Wilson 1, and Val Williams 1.

Delrex S.S. 18 - Kln. Krus. 15
Umpire - Jackie Fuller
Delrex started out with the lead and kept it all through the match. Christine Hayes managed to get on the bases each time she got up to bat.
Pitchers were Hope Hulme, Barbie Gunby and Allison Kahl. Game star was Allison Kahl for her fine all-round playing.

Stars were Val Williams for her good hitting and super fielding and Jackie Chapman for her home run. Pitchers

Cercor Mosquitos win over Oakville

The Georgetown Cercor Mosquitos bounced back to take a 4-2 victory over Oakville last Thursday after losing their first four games of the season.

A big difference in this game from the losses was the move of Honny Vanteri to center back. Vanteri played a strong defensive game, clearing the ball and doing some fine tackling.

Georgetown took a 2-0 lead in the first half on goals by Phil Wickers and Sean Hickey.

Oakville opened strongly in the second half and scored early to cut the lead to one. Goalkeeper Tim Panabaker then made some excellent saves to preserve the lead.

Hickey then scored his second goal to increase Georgetown's lead. Joe Clare, playing another fine game, set up the goal.

Acton Outers Club return from trip

By Sue Lehn
The Acton Outers have recently returned from a canoeing trip to Algonquin Park. They are a group of students and staff members from Acton High school who are interested in nature and the environment.

The Outers were started in 1970 by Wally Howley and Paul Tamblin. These two teachers got the idea to start the club while attending summer teaching sessions at Queens University in Kingston. It was there that they met Bob Pich, from the Minnesota Outward Bound School, who inspired them to set up an Outers Club as an extra curricular activity at Acton high.

That first year, there were approximately 25-30 members, and the club organized only one major trip, that being a five day canoe trip to Killarney Provincial Park.

The number of activities the Outers offers have increased and expanded since the first year. This year there have been canoe trips to Killarney and Algonquin Provincial Parks, as well as many one day only activities. Students have been taken rock climbing at Rattlesnake Point, cross-country skiing, and hiking along the Radial Line and the Bruce Trail. Many members have also been introduced to orienteering. One activity which Outers president Cliff Britton hopes to have organized by the end of the school year is an overnight bicycle trip.

Membership in the club has increased along with the variety of activities offered. Britton sees more junior students than senior students taking part in Outers in the last couple of years, but feels this is a good thing because it "means we will always continue as a club." Only a minority of those taking part in activities are actually club members, that is those who have collected points. Points are given to people who participate on work crews set up to raise money for the Outers. Members are awarded one point for every half hour they work later, when major, overnight trips are organized, only students with points are allowed to go, those with the most points getting first choice.

"If they help the club, and raise money to do things, then those people should have first choice to go on overnight trips," explained Britton.

Each time a members goes on an overnight trip, he loses five points, in order to keep the same people from going on all the trips. Activities which take place during the day only are open to any student who wishes to go, regardless of the number of points they have.

When asked about the benefits of such experiences, Britton replied: "People have gone on these trips with no experience at all. They learn new skills and end up doing things they never imagined they could have done before." Member begin to appreciate nature and deal with the environment more effectively than they previously had.

It is a totally different experience from the academic idea of school. Participants learn more about themselves and grow through their experiences in the wilderness. One thing they have just recently started doing on most lengthy trips is having "soles" where individuals are dropped off by themselves for a period of time, usually 24 hours, with no one else nearby.

"I think the aloneness is the key thing. Just spending that time by yourself in the wilderness with all the sounds and noises. It gives you time to think," said teacher Rick Boychuk.

The Outers Club raises money mainly through class and paper drives in Acton. In 1977, they received a Wintario Grant of $1,000 to help offset costs of travel and equipment. They recently had a canoe trailer built that can hold either eleven 17 foot canoes or two 26 footers. At present they have only one twenty-six foot canoe, but they hope to purchase a second.

The Outers are pleased with the support they have been given by the Halton Board of Education.

"We've had none of the problems that some schools have" encountered with education boards. Teachers within the school are also supportive, as students going on trips need their permission. We haven't had one student whose teacher refused to let him go," said Boychuk.

As an extracurricular activity, the Outers Club clearly has a place at Acton High School.

Opinion
Sports Around Acton High
By SUE LEHN

Athletic trophies are awarded in most schools in this area. The athletic department at Acton high school view these trophies mainly as an incentive, and feel that participation in sports has increased since the trophies were first awarded, four years ago.

I feel this practice should be abandoned as it uses outside stimulation to achieve results, and breeds more competition in an area where competition is already rampant.

Instead of helping an athlete to believe in his or her ability to perform, trophies act more as praise in that they are used as a reward for living up to certain standards. They are used as external motivators, and once this motivation is taken away, the person may lose the desire for physical activity. A better way to motivate athletes would be through encouragement given for effort. Encouragement would act as an internal stimulant rather than an athlete having to meet certain external standards, which trophies act as.

I also feel that singling out individual athletes as being "most valuable" or "outstanding", tends to take away from team spirit, and create rivalry on a team. Instead of playing together as a team to win a game, players sometimes become so obsessed with scoring the most points or being the most prominent player that they become less team-oriented. Many athletes crave recognition, and some see the ultimate recognition in being named "most valuable" or "outstanding". I feel that rivalry on teams for "the best player", could be greatly decreased if the practice of awarding trophies were to be discontinued.

It also tends to be discouraging and create bad feelings when trophies are awarded to the same athlete year after year, as in the case of one athlete being named "Outstanding Female Athlete" three years in a row at Acton high. Equally discouraging is the practice of awarding one person more than one trophy a year. If trophies are to be used as incentive, giving one athlete the same trophy year after year, or more than one a year, is not accomplishing its purpose. In addition, these practices often lead to questions of favoritism. People begin to wonder if an athlete was really that deserving of the trophies, or if he or she was just well liked.

Athletic letters and tabs given to all participants in the athletic program should be kept, as these acknowledge effort and tend to create more positive incentive than do trophies. Only exceptional teams can win games when there is individual rivalry within the team. The area of sports is already far too competitive, and the awarding of trophies helps to increase this competitiveness. All athletes on a team help and contribute to that team, and to single out individual players is to me a great injustice.

Harrison wins track meet

Harrison School won the junior track and field meet held at the Georgetown Fairgrounds on June 6. Harrison only won one division, the ten-year-old, but they had enough points to win the overall championship. Pineview won the championship in the nine-year-old division with Glen Williams the runnerup. The 11-year-old division was taken by Pineview with Wrigglesworth the runnerup. Pineview was also the runnerup in the 10-year-old division.

Fred Kotani, of GDHS and 24 top of the meet. Following are the individual results: Legend Park (PK), Joseph Gibbons (JG), Pineview (P), Harrison (H), Howard Wrigglesworth (HW), Glen Williams (GW).
