CARDSOFTHANKS Mosquito-spread virus unlikely this year

Mosquitoes which irritate on the wing, However, an outbreak of encephalitis, a virus spread by certain mosquitoes in 1975, is unlikely this summer. Dr. G.A. Surgeoner, Department of Environmental Biology, University of Guelph, is keeping close watch on the mosquitoes, which usually transmit the virus to birds Thirteen sentinel chicken flocks in southwestern Ontario are blood-tested weekly for signs of the St. Louis virus strain, which was reported in the Windsor, Sarnia, St. Catharines and Welland areas a few years ago. This is the best means of detecting the virus before it spreads to humans. The research is supported by the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food in collaboration with the ministries of Environment and Bealth.

If the virus is contracted, most healthy individuals suffer no more than a fever or a headache, although severe symptoms may develop in some people. Dr. Surgeoner makes the mosquitoes control: Think mosquito control before there is a problem. It your yard is inundated by hordes of mosquitoes each year, there must be a nearby breeding site. Mosquitoes usually multiply in still water. Homeowners should make sure low-lying areas are leveled to prevent water from gathering. Drainage ditches, gutters and drainpipes should be
