Hinton's store ends 50 years of service

The business will stay the same but the name will change says Bert Hinton of Hinton's 5 cent to $1 store in Acton.

Mr. Hinton officially began a "quitting business sale" Thursday with the intention of leaving his retail store by the end of the summer.

The target date (for completing stock and fixture liquidation) is the end of August, he says.

Mr. Hinton says he is arranging a lease to a "wonderful couple" who will get along fine in Acton and continue the 5 cent to $1 business. After the stock and fixtures are liquidated, Stedman's (5 cents to $1 chain store) will remodel and renovate the interior of the store.

"Acton will have the most modern 5 cent to $1 store in western Ontario," says Mr. Hinton.

The continuance of a 5 cent to $1 store for Acton satisfies his concern about keeping the business the same.

"That was a great concern of mine," he says.

Though Mr. Hinton will miss meeting people on a day to day basis - "especially the older people" - he says his retirement from the store is timely.

"I feel it's timely to quit business before I get old and grumpy!"

"I don't want to wear our good friendships," he says.

Mr. Hinton's decision to retire from his retail store will end a 50-year span of Hinton's 5 cent to $1 store in Acton. The Hinton family moved to Acton in 1924 and Mr. Hinton started his store in 1929.

Mr. Hinton will continue to represent Acton as a trustee for the Halton board of education.

"I intend to pursue the things I have going now," he says.

POLICE CONTRACT HIGHEST IN ONTARIO

Halton Regional Police has signed a new one-year contract which will make the force the highest paid in Ontario, and among the highest in Canada.

The contract was signed by members of the police commission and representatives from the police association at the commission meeting Thursday. The contract includes a salary increase of six per cent, and includes other non-monetary fringe benefits.

Under the new contract, a superintendent will be paid $30,555; a staff inspector, $27,809; an inspector, $25,771 a staff sergeant, $23,691; a sergeant, $21,902; a first class constable, $20,446; a second class constable, $18,449; a third class constable, $16,140; and a fourth class constable, $13,499. Cadets are considered civilian employees and come under the civilian contract.

PC Al Reulens, president of the police association, which also represents civilian employees, said negotiations on the civilian contract have reached a slowdown, but not an impasse.

"Salary-wise, we're very satisfied," Mr. Reulens said. "We were even prepared to take far less salary if we could get a better pension system. After all, we have about 40 men approaching retirement."

Among the non-monetary benefits included in the contract is the right to voluntarily exchange shifts or days off with another officer. For example, if an officer wished to attend a wedding, or had some other committment which fell during his working hours, he could exchange a shift with another officer. This right has been in existence for some time, but will now be included in the contract.

Police officers now also have the right to examine their personnel files, as kept by the secretary to the police commission, or the district commander, and to make copies of any document in the files or include a reply to anything in the file.

The contract was approved eight weeks ago, but there was a problem in getting accountants together to go over the figures, Mr. Reulens said.

The contract also permits members of the association bargaining team to take time off, with salary, in connection with anything related to negotiations, such as investigations and fact-finding missions.

$52,000 Wintario grant application

Special to The Herald

The Acton Town Hall Restoration Committee is proceeding with an application for a $52,000 Wintario grant to restore the exterior of the town hall.

Chairman George Elliott said Friday the committee will have a meeting tentatively scheduled for August with area representatives from Wintario and several representatives from Halton Hills council.

The meeting will discuss the ownership of the town hall and the maintenance of the hall when restored.

To receive the $52,000 Wintario money, the town hall committee must raise a matching $52,000. The more than $100,000 would be used to restore the exterior of the town hall, completed around 1883, and bring the structural supports of the building up to standard.

The feasibility study for the restoration of the town hall estimated total cost of restoration at $236,000. Mr. Elliott said the town hall committee didn't ask for $116,000 of Wintario money to complete restoration of the structural supports the exterior and the interior because the matching $116,000 Acton would have to raise is unrealistic.

"It's unlikely we're going to get $116,000 from the people of Acton so we thought we'd be realistic," said Mr. Elliott.

The town hall committee's request for an Ontario Heritage Foundation grant to restore the hall was turned down only because the municipality refused to contribute any money to the restoration, said Mr. Elliott.

"If you can get a grant from the heritage foundation, you are almost assured the Wintario grant," he said.

If Wintario approves the grant, Mr. Elliott said he didn't know whether the restoration of the exterior and structural supports could start immediately or if the matching $52,000 had to be raised first.

Mr. Elliott said if the grant is approved, the committee will ask citizens of Acton "if they want to save the town hall then they will have to put some money into it."

Mr. Elliott referred to the $1,500 petition to save the town hall and said if each name gave $100 there would be more than enough money to complete restoration of the hall.
