While Halton regional council continues its efforts to persuade the town of Milton to allow the establishment of a 246-acre landfill site in that municipality, public opposition threatens to delay the proposed expansion of an existing dump in Oakville.

Intended as an interim measure to provide additional landfilling capacity for Halton while plans for the single regional dump are delayed by Milton's opposition, the expansion of both the existing Oakville and Burlington sites was recommended by consulting engineers and adopted by council last month

On Wednesday, however, council heard a spokesman for residents in the vicinity of the Oakville dump complain that municipal officials have repeatedly promised to close the dump since it opened in 1962. Council directed regional planning and public works staff to meet with the concerned residents and Oakville councillors to discuss the matter.

LENGTHY RESPONSE At the same time, Millon Mayor Don Gordon requested that the lengthy response prepared by regional solicitor Dennis Pertin to Milton's 10 prime concerns over the proposed dump at Tremaine and Britannia Roads south of urban Milton should be forwarded. on to town council in that municipality, Mayor Gordon gave no indication whether the region's response is acceptable to the town.

Bill Bowen of Burnhamthorpe Road in Oakville recalled that landfilling was virtually unknown in his native England, where all refuse was incinerated. Halton officials, he complained, have not considered all the possibilities for waste disposal, nor all of theaspects involved in expanding the Oakville dump.

Coun. Tom Sutherland of Burlington challenged Mr. Bowen's assertion on behalf of at least three of his neighbors that council is being "dictatorial" in its intentions to expand the Oakville dump. All nearby residents have been properly natified of the intention, Coun. Sutherland said, and if their interests appear to have been ignored, the wording of the posted notification may have been incorrect.

RESIDENTS CONCERNS Burlington Coun. Jack Raftis commented that the Oakville resident's concerns have arisen from an apparent lack of communication between them and their elected representatives. Oakville Mayor Harry Barrett responded that their concerns involve the region's ongoing use of the site. "These residents have been given so many empty promises," he said, "that they are now concerned about whether this expansion will be for a few months or for five years"

The expansion proposal accepted by council will see all Halton garbage eventually directed to the expanded dumps in south Halton over the course of the next five years. By 1983, the region hopes to have a major regional dump established elsewhere to accommodate all waste.

According to the response prepared for Milton council, "the region still believes that the proposed site "F" tat Tremaine and Britannia Roads) is still the preferred site at this time for a regional tandfill site"

Mr. Perlin noted in the response that the region "sineerely wants to avoid a public confrontation between itself and the town", and, as such, is prepared to enter into "a reasonable development control agreement" for the site. AMEND ZONING

Mr. Perlin stressed that the region wants Milton to amend its zoning bylaw and official plan to allow landfilling only in a 246-uere area and that the site will be restricted to landfilling and accessory uses. There are no provisions in the region's application for future resource recovery or waste transfer operations at the site, he explained,

Furthermore, Mr. Perlin said, the region has not placed a six-year landfilling time limit on Site "F", as is commonly believed among dump opponents, but rather a 2,000,000 ton

Mr. Perlin went on to answer or refute each of Milton's 10 concerns and objections to the proposal in turn. Additional lests have been made at several of the possible landfill sites recommended by consulting engineers, he pointed out, in an effort to resolve Millon's concern that landfilling at other sites elsewhere in Halton would have less social and environmental impact than at Site "F"
