Referee's clinic is well-organized event

A well-organized, competently run, successful clinic were high words of praise from OMHA convenors Ken Russell and Bill Rowney about the NRCP Level II Stage II referee's clinic conducted last Saturday.

Sponsored and run by the Georgetown and District Minor Hockey Association, clinic co-ordinators Joe Penteseo and Bill Richmond along with helpers Jim Hepburn, Dave Tales, Bill Fisher, Don Davis and Bill Marcolini, put in a full day of hockey.

With an 8 a.m. start for registration, the day progressed with morning classroom instruction, hot meal at noon and four afternoon exhibition games. Each prospective referee worked five minutes of a game and were evaluated on their performance.

Game one saw Oakville Minor Midget AAAs roll over a short staffed Georgetown major midget team 9-2. Bruce Latimer scored three for Oakville, Dave Hawkins and Erwin Luzar potted two; Andy Dryden and Tom Waterfield shot singles with assists to Jamie Morrison (2), Craig Marshall, Bob McCarvell, Lane Bailey (2), Luzar, Dryden (2), Latimer (2), and Scott Belfor (2). Steve Robbins from Scott Osborne and Paul Stephens then Stephens from Osborne replied for the apples.

With the Oakville win under his belt, Bill Richmond changed his hat and guided his Bantam 4-towners to a 5-1 win over Acton Bantam Reps. Having dropped a 5-3 decision to Acton earlier in the year, the 4-towners were up for this game and took control from the opening faceoff. Scott Penteseo, Kevin Phillips, John Dellaas, Vernon Coles and Shayne Lefebvre were the goalgetters, assists were earned by Phillips, Lefebvre (2), Coles, Dellaas and John Wheeler. Deval scored the lone Acton goal.

DRG Bantams hosted Markham in game three and came out 6-3 victors in a well played game. Markham stayed close until midway the game when DRG potted four unanswered goals. Dave Norton shot a pair, Mike Marcolini, Paul White, Bob Morrow and Anthony Oram scored singles with assists to Norton (2), Rivy Kennedy and Morrow (2).

Georgetown Juveniles vs house league juveniles was the final game and the all stars got a 8-0 win. Don Thompson and Paul Gingras potted two each. Bill Taylor, Tim DeFries, Scott Turner and Paul Morrow also scored. Assists went to Morrow (3), Mark Brabant, Taylor and Thompson.

Rep Hockey Player of the Week

Glenn Leslie has been named the Rep hockey player of the week for his performance against Oakville last week.

Glenn plays for the United Rent-All Minor Pee Wees and he led his team to a 4-2 victory.

Glenn had one goal and one assist. He had nine shots on net and his manager, Brian James, said the centreman dominated the play every-time he stepped out to take his shift.

Congratulations to Glenn.

Major Atoms lose two

The Georgetown Firefighters and McNally Construction Major Atoms had their worst week of the year suffering two routs. They were overwhelmed 8-1 by Burlington and then shutout 5-0 by Oakville.

Georgetown was outshot 24-14 by Burlington in a game in which they were never really in.

Mark Howie scored Georgetown's only goal when he broke through the Burlington defense and then put it by the netminder.

Most of Burlington's goals came as a result of rebounds with the Georgetown defense unable of clearing the puck or taking the men in front.

Georgetown outshot Oakville 15-10, but as everyone knows that statistic can be very misleading. Georgetown was totally outskated and outchecked in the contest. Oakville also got the breaks around the net.

Pee Wees strong again

The Georgetown United Rent-All Minor Pee Wees came up with a strong offensive display to down Oakville 4-2 in action last week.

Georgetown outshot Oakville

30-6 in the contest as they totally dominated the play.

Brian Evans scored the only goal of the first period to give Oakville the lead.

Brent Smith scored the second period's only marker on an unassisted play to bring Georgetown even.

Georgetown then took over with a solid performance in the final period.

Todd Cull tallied from Smith and Stephen Turner and Georgetown had the lead for the first time in the game.

Stephen Marcolini and Glenn Leslie then took over the limelight. First Marcolini converted a pass from Leslie; Marcolini then returned the favor by setting up Leslie for a goal.

Late in the period Darren Parent scored to make the score more respectable for Oakville.

It was the Georgetown's forwards ability to keep control of the puck and to forecheck throughout the match that ultimately spelled victory.

Manager Brian James said that defenseman Turner and forwards Cull, Leslie and Andy Hughes all were stalwart performers in the win.

The Georgetown Labelmasters Jim McIntyre prepares to fall on the puck against Streetsville here Thursday night. Georgetown came back to earn a 2-2 tie in the game. McIntyre, who joined the team from the house league, had a solid game. Helping him out here is Mark Sherrard.

Labelmasters earn one point

The Georgetown Labelmasters minor midgets had an off week in rep hockey action taking only one of a possible four points.

Last Thursday the Labelmasters played host to the Streetsville team and it ended in a 2-2 draw.

Kevin Stewart scored the first Georgetown goal with Mark Hamilton setting him up. The second Georgetown marker went in off the stick of Gerry Milne after he took a pass from Brian Ward.

Georgetown played a very strong third period and came close to scoring a third goal on several plays.

In their other game last week Georgetown was downed 4-1 by Brampton.

Captain Brad McMeekin had the only Georgetown goal in this match.

Minor Atom split pair

The Georgetown Al Pilutti Minor Atoms lost to Streetsville 4-3 and then defeated Guelph 3-2 in two tight hockey matches last week.

Arch-rival Streetsville got on the board first against the atoms, but the Pilutti boys came storming back.

Craig Chantler, who had been ill and not on skates for a week, scored three consecutive goals to put Georgetown ahead.

Georgetown then let up and Streetsville scored three unanswered goals of their own to claim the win.

Against Guelph Georgetown played solid hockey for most of the match and built up a 3-0 lead.

Mark Moody scored in the first period on a play set up by Terry Dixon.

In the second period Mark Zebedeo tallied from Chantler and Georgetown went into the final frame leading 2-0.

Sean Finn then scored on an unassisted effort early in the third period and Georgetown was up by three.

As in the Streetsville game, Georgetown suffered a let-down in the late going.

However, this time they were able to hold Guelph to two goals and take the victory.

Manager Ian Ward said that defencemen Mark Dunning and Mike Chiovitti played great in both the outings.

Goaltenders Chris Pearson and Jeff Brake, who share the netminding, have both been outstanding thus far in the year.
