WATER TOWER VANDALS

Halton Regional Police are investigating the defacement of Georgetown's water tower on Mountainview Road. It is not the first time that the water tower has been damaged by painted obscenities.

Burglars rob home

Burglars entered the front porch of a home in Acton and stole an antique rocking chair valued at $100.

Two youths have been charged with theft after a delivery man for Royal Pizza observed a car near his delivery vehicle and saw a youth remove a pizza from the vehicle. The delivery man made a note of the licence number of the car and when police found the vehicle and searched it, a mug taken from Frank Velez's Pizza on Guelph Street was found. Two youths were charged with theft of the pizza, and one of them, along with another youth in the car, was charged with theft of the mug and possession of stolen goods.

The left wheel discs were pried off a 1979 Chrysler parked in the field behind Georgetown Chrysler. Both discs were damaged beyond repair. Value of the discs is estimated at $300.

Four chrome wheel hubcaps were stolen from a car on the lot at Georgetown Chrysler. The assistant sales manager discovered the loss when he checked the lot after seeing four men in the rear of the lot.

A Georgetown woman reported that the windshield of her car was cracked after it had been left outside a building on Guelph Street.

A pair of sunglasses and a portable car heater were stolen from a car while it was parked in the Georgetown Hospital parking lot during the late afternoon February 8.

Chairman attends conference

Education chairman Mary-Ellen Bridge, attended a district educational workshop on January 30th.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, nominations were submitted by everyone for the position of vice president.

The conference was designed to help volunteers organize for the April fund raising drive.

The weekend sessions, having as a theme "It's Up to You", highlighted the Cancer Society's work in education, publicity and service to patients through films, video tape, slide presentations and panel discussions. The guest speakers at the conference were Marvella Bayh, wife of Senator Birch Bayh of Indiana, and Dr. Martin Lewis, Department of Pathology, Georgetown University, Washington D.C.

Everyone was greatly inspired by Mrs. Bayh's talk, which centered around the message of hope for all cancer patients. Dr. Lewis gave an excellent and very informative talk on the history of cancer and its treatment methods from earliest times, and also spoke on Cancer research today, which was very encouraging.

Donations received for hostel

The board of directors for a proposed Halton hostel to shelter abused women and their children has received its first donation.

Louise Hebb, a member of the board, said that the Burlington Medical Secretaries' Association has given $100 to the hostel, and a couple of other women's service groups in Burlington and Oakville are also showing an interest in the project.

The board has not yet approached Halton Region, the province of Ontario or United Way for donations, Mrs Hebb said, because they have been going to various organizations asking for moral support first.

"We have letters from the towns of Milton and Burlington family court judge James Fuller, Halton MP Frank Philbrook and a number of other groups," she said. "We want to show that we had community support for the project before we went asking for funds."

SEEKS GRANTS

The board is seeking a combined regional and provincial grant based on daily operating costs of the hostel as well as asking for funds from foundations, United Way and the public.

Letters of support are still coming in and the board just had another hundred copies of its feasibility study printed in order to send it out with a letter asking for donations from service clubs and organizations. These letters will go out later this month.

Mrs. Hebb said that the board has looked at three buildings as possible locations for the hostel to be called Halton's Womens Place, but no decision has been made on the matter.

"We want to have it around Milton if possible," she said, "because that's the geographical centre of the region."

The need for a shelter is greater in the north, the board feels because residents in Burlington and Oakville have access to shelters in Hamilton and Toronto while those in the north have no such place available.

Halton Regional police investigated 500 family disputes in 1978 the board said, the report says and "these women like all other abused women in the region, need more than overnight motel or hotel accommodation".
