

Six candidates endorsed for region's environment committee

David Casson of Georgetown and Dr. W.W. Martin of Limehouse are among the six candidates whose names are to be submitted to Halton regional council as prospective members of the region's Ecological and Environmental Advisory Committee (EEAC).

The region's planning committee last Tuesday endorsed all six candidates in a recommendation which, if approved today (Wednesday) by council, will increase the size of the EEAC to 21 members, under the chairmanship of David McKay of Burlington. The EEAC selected four candidates from among 28 "highly qualified applicants" March 14 following procedural guidelines that required each name to have the support of two-thirds of the committee's members.

CHEMISTRY DEGREE
Selected were Bob Edmondson of Burlington, a wildlife biologist with the Halton Region Conservation Authority,

Charles Ferguson of Oakville, director of environmental affairs with Inco Metals Co., John Shaw of Burlington, an environmental impact assessor with Environment Canada, and Graham Turner, also of Burlington, who has degrees in chemistry and law.

Two other applicants, Mr. Casson and Dr. Martin, received the same number of votes among EEAC members and thus "tied" for the fifth position open on the committee. The EEAC invited regional council to choose a fifth candidate between the two names, but the planning committee decided last week that both men should be able to join the EEAC.

Mr. Casson is the president of the Environmental Services Ltd., located on Armstrong Avenue in Georgetown. Dr. Martin is a Limehouse resident who serves as assistant professor of mechanical engineering at the University of Toronto.

BIOLOGICAL SCIENCES
The committee attempted to maintain representation in a wide variety of backgrounds including the biological sciences, the physical sciences, business and industry, geography, the social sciences and naturalist groups. Paul Attack of the regional planning department explained in a report to council. Established nearly three years ago, the EEAC is designed to advise regional council and its planning staff in areas related to the protection or development of the environment in Halton. Its major contributions thus far can be seen in the region's new official plan, approved by council in September, and in the highly-anticipated report on Halton's 38 environmental-sensitive areas (EEAS's).

The EEAC meets about 16 times a year at the region's Oakville headquarters to review plans of subdivision, zoning applications, land severance matters and other items of an ecological nature before council. David McKay was selected as the EEAC's new chairman in February, replacing Dr. Peter Rice, a plant pathologist at the Royal Botanical Gardens.

LAND BARGAINS
— Each year throughout Ontario, municipal and county treasurers sell properties that have been seized for non-payment of taxes.
— For the informed there are literally thousands of opportunities to buy hunting, fishing, home, investment and farm properties.
— These often sell for little more than the taxes owed, which is generally in the $200 to $600 range. Of course the properties are worth far more.
— Our service provides the lists along with complete purchase details.

Cruiser tenders
Halton Regional Police will be tendering for 34 new police cruisers this year.
Tender calls will be going out shortly to replace 34 cruisers presently in service. The commission plans to replace 14 vehicles in the spring, and an additional 20 vehicles in the fall. The force has sufficient unmarked vehicles now, and does not intend to replace any in the immediate future.
The only change in the specifications as they were originally set out is that while the force had requested bids for both vehicles which use leaded gasoline, and those which use unleaded gasoline, they have been informed that only cars using unleaded gasoline are available.
The force intends to stick with the full-sized vehicles, and there have been few changes from the 1978 specifications.

SPACIOUS TWO STOREY WITH THREE FULL BATHS
This extraordinary home plan provides a spacious interior design and a magnificent facade guaranteed to make its owners "house-proud" for a lifetime. Its solid brick veneer, shake roof and small-paned windows are inspired by traditional architecture to harmonize with any chosen urban or suburban setting.
From the weather-protected porch, double front doors lead into the reception foyer, which flows naturally into the invitingly elegant living room. The attractive bay window and centrally positioned fireplace, situated on an interior wall for energy-efficiency, are its main features. The adjacent dining room is sufficiently generous to accommodate the most formal of suites, and its window arrangement ensures a bright interior, even on the least attractive day.
The well-planned kitchen adjoins the formal dining room as well as the open den area in which casual meals may be served, or moved outdoors in fine weather to the rear patio, accessible via sliding glass doors. Abundant counter-top work area and cupboards make the kitchen a homemaker's dream.
On the main level, the full three-piece bath is sensibly positioned for the convenience of both guests and family, and is accessible via separate pocket door from the library-den, which latter may double as a guest room with private ensuite for visitors.
Centrally-positioned stairs lead up to the bedroom complex and down to the lower level. The regal master bedroom suite offers complete privacy, with its three-piece ensuite, his and hers closets, and adjacent sitting dressing alcove. The two children's bedrooms, each providing generous closet storage, are convenient to the three-piece family bath. An added feature is the second vanity sink located in a small alcove, permitting independent use. Three hall closets provide abundant space for extra linens.
In the unfinished basement, a laundry-utility area is provided for immediate use. At a later date, the abundant space may be developed into a family room, an additional bedroom, and/or a workshop-hobby area as desired by the growing family.
Generous windows throughout this home ensure excellent natural lighting year-round. The attached single car garage, which opens directly into the kitchen, may be extended for two-car use, should your building lot permit.
This is a distinctive home, ideal for a corner lot, which you'll enjoy for many years to come.
