

Two Rebel teams advance to Halton 'A's

By Bill Humphreys

The G.D.H.S. Rebel Badminton Team and the other schools from the East met some stiff competition coming from the West earlier this week at the Halton badminton tournament played in the Rebel gym.

MORE INDIVIDUALS

Last week at the East Halton's also played in the Rebel gym, the Rebel team qualified more individuals than any other from the East to go on to the Halton's.

Of these few, two double teams played tremendous badminton eventually make the top four to advance them to the Halton "A's" which is scheduled for Thursday, April 19th in the Rebel gym.

One of the double team's was the men's team of Mark Nelstrop and Dan Vandervoort.

These two Rebel stars played an excellent third at the Halton's, the same position they finished with at the East Halton's last week.

"Competition was not as great coming from the West as it was in other categories, like men's singles, but we had to be at our best to place where we did," Mark Nelstrop said.

The West placed on the average higher than the East did.

The other Halton "A" qualifier from G.D.H.S. is the Ladies Double team of Louise Morvack and Jennie Smith, a young team which showed some amazing court play.

This team competed like experienced seniors as they captured fourth place in a highly competitive category.

WORK CUT OUT

"We knew that we had our work cut out for us as we finished third last week and with the addition of the top four teams from the west our chances had diminished somewhat. But we (Jennis Smith) concentrated and played some good badminton," Morvack said.

The Rebels facing elimination were Phil Dellio, Caroline Panabaker, Nancy Phillips and Kevin Neill.

Dellio and Panabaker, the Rebel mixed double team, who placed second in last weeks competition and were sought by many to go on into further play, had an off day...

Neill, a third place finisher last week, won his first match but then lost two others to eliminate him from further action in the men's singles category.

Phillips, also a third place finisher last week, was beaten twice so she too was eliminated in the women's singles category.

Kevin Neill was one of the more successful competitors at the Halton championships for the GDHS Rebels. A few Rebels qualified for the Peel-Halton to be played later this week.
