

Stacey Hurley working hard

By BILL HUMPHREYS
Five years ago Stacey Hurley of Georgetown picked up a tennis racquet and started to run around attempting to hit the ball back to her father over what was a very large net at that time.

Every year, Stacey practiced harder and the sport became a love, and her ability became so great that last year she was ranked sixth in Canada in the 14 year old category.

Last weekend it was reported that Hurley won the Women's Double competition and reached the finals of the single ladder at the Rolex tournament at Cobblestone Court.

This week is a practicing week, as Stacey enjoys the indoor comfort at the Cobblestone in Mississauga, of which she is a member.

FINEST

This club is one of the finest in Canada for junior aged players and Hurley has been there for three years.

Time and effort Stacey has put into the sport has paid off as she is now sponsored by the famous Slazenger company where her outfits and other essentials come free.

This summer is when all the real competition starts with such tournaments as the Quebec open, the Ontario Invitational, where there is a playoff of club teams and the National Tournament which is in late August.

The biggest hope Stacey has is to receive an athletic scholarship to a university in the United States.

KEEP WORK UP

"Scouts around tournaments have told our team that we just have to keep up our grades and our ranking in Canada and an athletic scholarship should come quite easily," Stacey said. "I still have two or three years left in high school though before I start thinking about university."

Fans who enjoy a good game of tennis should try to see this wonder kid play in one of the tournaments throughout the summer.

The Georgetown Legion Royalettes will be going with a veteran lineup when they begin play in the Ladies' league. Above are two of the players off the roster of last year's junior team. Left is starting catcher Noreen Atkinson and right is pitcher Laura Wilkes. Wilkes, who missed most of last season, will be sharing the pitching duties with Debbie Shortt.

Royalettes have veterans back as they enter new loop

A solid and exciting infield will be one of the strongest points of the Royalettes Ladies Fastball team which begins play this coming Tuesday at the Fairgrounds.

So far manager Ted Wilkes reports that 12 players have signed to play for the team, with the nucleus of last year's junior championship team returning to play in the senior loop.

The infield will be composed of all the starters from last year. Janet McKay is back at first base, Charlie Milton at shortstop and Joey Bennett at second will make up the double play combination with Monica Pollock handling the balls hit to the hot corner.

Nancy Shortill, the team's most valuable player of the last year, will be back to take care of the bulk of the catching duties.

TOP PITCHERS

Wilkes has also his top pitchers from last year with righthander Debbie Shortt, the winningest pitcher last year back, and Laura Wilkes who missed most of last season, chucking from the left side.

Also signed are outfielders Barb Curry, Noreen Atkinson, Michele Miehme and Patti Gles, who will be the backbone of the outfield.

The only newcomer signed to date is Pat White, who has done all her previous fastball in Brampton. Wilkes expects her to be one of the team's leaders on the base paths as she has very good speed.

McKay has had the top hitting average on the team for the last three years. Wilkes expects that the whole team will challenge her for the honor this year with last year's runner-ups Shortill, Gies and Bennett all being top candidates. Milton and Curry will again act as the team's captains.

The night after their opener here Tuesday the Royalettes will travel to play a game in Oshawa. On the Labor Day weekend they will take part in the Labatts International Ladies Fastball Tournament at Port Colborne.

Game time for the opener here Tuesday will be 8:30 p.m.
