

Conservation areas

The Terra Cotta area was one of the authority's early! purchases. It is located on the Niagara Escarpment just, east of Georgetown. The 350 acre area contains climax forests, four stocked ponds for fishing, camp sites for family and group camping, swimming and pienicking facilities and a nature trail more than a mile in length which winds through rocky forested terrain.

Development of the Silver Creek Conservation area north of Georgetown is still on the preliminary planning stage. Once acquisition of land in the Silver Creek area has been completed there will be a conservation area of more than 2000 acres on the Niagara Escarpment. Much of this is heavily wooded and has rugged rock formations on the face of the Escarpment and marsh areas along the creek in the valley.
