Racer near the top

Jon Cornwell of Georgetown moved closer to leaders in the White Memorial Trophy, the premier award in Canadian Motorcycling, with a victory in Welland over the weekend.

Going into last weekend's action Cornwell was tied for third spot in the standings with 40 points. Blair Sharpless, also of Ontario, had 58 points and Michele Mercier of Quebec had 48 points.

Cornwell figures he made up ground on both of the leaders with his win in the 750 c.c. class at the race in Welland.

The Georgetown racer also competed in the 250 c.c. class, but he crashed while he was in third place. He was not injured and the minor damage to his bike can be repaired easily.

This is a big weekend for Cornwell as he will return to Welland to compete in the National Championship.
