Haines boys lead Way-Jay to title in own tourney

The Glen Williams Way-Jays took the title at their own tournament Saturday by shutting out Hespeler 1-0 in a tight pitcher's duel in the final.

There were seven teams entered in the tournament; Rockwood, Brampton, Accel, Bellwood, Erin, Brampton Legion, the Glen and Hespeler.

In the final Jeff Haines tossed a three-hitter to lead the Glen to the victory. En route to recording the win Haines struck out 11 batters and walked none.

The Glen had an excellent opportunity to score a run in the first inning, but Dan Fields who had hit a triple was called out on the basepaths. His double was followed by a two-bagger by Andy Broadbent.

ONLY RUN

The Way-Jays scored the games only run in the bottom of the fourth. Fields hit a single and later came around to score on Glenn Fendley's one-base hit.

The one run proved to be all the Glen needed as Haines, although having a little trouble in the fifth and eighth innings, shut the door on Hespeler.

Because there were seven teams entered in the tournament, Hespeler won a draw and received a bye in the first round.

In the first round Rockwood defeated Accel 2-0, the Glen dumped the Legion 7-4 and Bellwood romped to a 8-1 victory over Erin.

In the Way-Jay win over Legion the homeside was never in much danger. Andy Broadbent scored a run in the first inning to get the Way-Jays on the board. Broadbent, Fields and Joe South then all scored in the third to put the Glen up 4-1. Broadbent scored his third run of the game in the fourth and Jackie Bregmann also came around to score and the Way-Jays were up by five. Brian Peavoy added one more Glen run in the sixth. Brampton came on to score three runs in their half of the seventh to make the score respectable.

WENT DISTANCE

Terry Haines went the distance for Georgetown striking out 11. Broadbent and Peavoy each picked up two hits. In the semi-finals Hespeler defeated Rockwood 5-2 while the Glen squeaked by Bellwood 3-2.

Jeff Haines was again in the pitching circle for the Glen and he was again very tough giving up just four hits, all singles.

The Way-Jay batters meanwhile pounced right on Bellwood pitcher Ken McFadden as they got two hits and a run in the first inning. Bert Osborne led off by getting a walk and he came around to score on singles by Broadbent and Glenn Fendley.

Bellwood got that run back in the second inning when they put together two of their singles.

The Glen scored their final two runs of the game in the fourth inning. Fendley hit a double, Peavoy walked and they both came around to score on a double by Scott Haines.

In the bottom of the fourth Bellwood got back one of those runs when they had two singles, but again Haines toughened up and did not allow any more runs the rest of the way. In this seven-inning game Haines struckout seven.

BUSY WEEK

The Way-Jays had a very busy week as aside from the three games in the tournament they also played four league games. They lost 4-0 in 15 innings to Orangeville and were nipped 2-1 by Erin. Then they took a double header from Fergus, winning the first 1-0 and being awarded the second on a default.

In the game against Orangeville, which was a battle between the league's top two teams it appeared that there was never going to be a score. Four 14 innings Jeff Haines and Duane Donaldson matched each other batter for batter, not allowing any more to cross the plate.

The Way-Jays did not have a runner reach third base until the fourteenth inning when they had their best chance to score by far. In that inning Osborne, Field, and Fendley all got hits. However Peavoy flew out with Field at third base with what could have been the winning run.

For Haines it turned out to be a very tough loss. In the fifteenth Orangeville got their four runs to win it and they were all unearned.

The Way-Jay defense suddenly fell apart and Haines' saw the game go out the window. In all four errors were committed and although Orangeville got the four runs they did not get one hit. It was still a great pitching performance by Haines as in the 15 innings he struckout 17 batters while walking only two.

TOUGHLOSS

In the game in Erin Terry Haines was back pitching and he too put on an excellent display although taking the loss.

It was a bad fourth inning when Erin scored both their runs that cost the younger Haines the game. He gave up just three hits in the game, but three of them came in the fourth inning.

Bob Braiden's two-run homer with Mike Weston on base was the big shot for Erin.

The Glen had gone ahead in the fourth inning when Bob Hatcher who had reached base on an error scored.

In the first game against Fergus, it was another great pitching performance by Terry Haines. The youngster allowed just three hits in tossing the shutout.

Bergmann, who had reached base on an error, scored the game's only run in the fifth inning.

In the second game the score was tied at two going into the bottom of the ninth when Fergus' D. Ried made a terrible mistake. With no players left on the bench, Ried argued a call too vehemently and he was tossed out of the game. Fergus did not have a player on the bench to take his place so the Glen was awarded the victory.

The Way-Jays now have a season record of seven wins, three losses.

Pee Wees are hot in winning three

The Georgetown Lion's club Pee Wees have been red hot taking three wins in recent baseball action. The Pee Wees beat the Burlington Minor Pee Wees 13-8, then beat the Majors from the same city 9-7. They also nipped Oakville 5-4.

In the game against the Burlington Majors Georgetown scored seven runs in the second inning to wipe out a Burlington lead and never looked back.

Derek Roy pitched the first five innings for Georgetown and recorded the win. Robbie Wilkes relieved him for the final two innings.

Jeff Stevens led the Georgetown attack by hitting two doubles and knocking in four runs. Scott Farley also had a big day as he knocked in three runs. In all the Pee Wees picked up 10 hits.

In the win against the Majors Wilkes pitched a complete game and earned the victory. He received good support from Jeff Budweiser who hit two doubles to knock in four of the nine runs.

Budweiser was excellent in the victory over Oakville as he tossed a two-hitter in going the route. He picked up seven strikeouts while walking three. Budweiser topped off the excellent day by also knocking in the winning run.

Going into the bottom of the seventh inning Georgetown was trailing 4-1, but they rallied to score four and take the victory.

Joey Richardson and Andy Fisher both aided the cause by hitting triples. Darren Kemp had a double.

Ladies 'A' team draws

The Gordon Alcott Ladies 'A' tennis broke even in their match against the Ontario Rackets played here last week.

The two squads were very evenly matched as each of the four matches could have easily gone either way.

Kay King and Doreen Thomson won their match in straight sets by 7-5, 7-6 scores. Ann Kennedy and Audrey Houston won their first set by a 6-3 score and then wrapped it up in the second by a tight 7-6 score.

Elizabeth Doig and Marilyn Serjeantson lost 4-6 in the first set, came back to take the second 6-2 and then were edged out 5-7 in the decider.

Linda Rice and Isla Allison got off on the right foot winning 7-5 in the first set. Then they were defeated by 4-6 and 3-6 scores in the next two sets.
