

Speed up energy production Reed says

Halton-Burlington MPP Julian Reed has responded to recent news about the national oil price agreement between the governments of Canada and Alberta by urging Premier William Davis to "strongly accelerate" efforts to improve Ontario's energy productivity.

"As I have stressed on numerous occasions in the past, the means and resources are there for us to speed up such action, which can guarantee that, in the years to come, we will not be forced to accept the steadily increasing, inflationary cost of energy supply," Mr. Reed said in a press release this week.

As energy critic for the Ontario Liberal Opposition, Mr. Reed has contended that Premier Davis is "incapable of making any gains at the bargaining table" concerning the use of restraint in setting oil prices. Last week's reports of details in the Ottawa-Alberta price agreement clarify the validity of his claim, the MPP said.

"At this point, it seems redundant to dwell on the premier's failure to protect the people of Ontario in this high-stakes struggle," Mr. Reed commented, praising Liberal leader Stuart Smith for having the foresight to predict what he called a "serious blow to the consumers" of Ontario.
