HOLIDAY GREETINGS

Christmas! Time to draw close family and friends and celebrate the time-honored traditions of the season.

STILL REMEMBER CHRISTMAS WHEN I WAS A KID.

The mail. The boxes. The paper. The aunts and uncles and grand-parents and people dropping by to wish us 'a merry Christmas.' I still remember the trees that my father and I cut. They were always spruce. The lights, the balls and the icicles. And turning off the house lights to see the tree glow in our darkened living room.

How can I now begin to capture that feeling?

AND CHRISTMAS EVE. Half sleeping through that endless night and hearing—listen—actually hearing Santa Claus outside my bedroom door. I remember so well hearing the faint clinking of his toy bag on the floor and the smell of the tangerines that were in the toe of our stockings year after year.

THEN FINALLY CHRISTMAS MORNING. I was always up before anyone else. And I would wait out the morning sitting by the tree, just staring. After an eternity and after breakfast we would open the presents. There was always a special one. A special present from Santa.

YET NOW MORE THAN THE PRESENTS I REMEMBER MY PARENTS. The look on their faces. Their look of joy. Their pleasure. And I'm sure they were looking at me the same way. After all, their joy was my Christmas. And now, my memories are of their joy. It's all the same. Now it's my children. And their Christmas. And the joy and love that we pass on each Christmas, generation after generation, is what we call our family.
