

Sue Evans features home made soups and pies at Soup 'n' Stuf in the upstairs of the Carpet Barn at Mill and Guelph Streets. The restaurant is open from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday to Saturday to offer shoppers and business people morning coffee, hearty lunches or afternoon tea all at moderate prices. (Herald photo)

Minestrone tops at Soup 'n' Stuf

Shoppers and business people looking for a filling lunch at moderate prices have another restaurant to choose from in Georgetown these days.

Soup 'n' Stuf, upstairs at the Carpet Barn, Mill and Guelph Streets, is the third member of the Georgetown 'Stuf' stores owned by Sue Evans and operated in that location.

Mrs. Evans opened a children's clothing shop, Kidstuf, about a year ago. Her second venture, Nearly Newstuf, is a consignment shop for women's clothing which opened in the fall. She took over the restaurant, Ardee's Tea Room, at that time.

Soup 'n' Stuf specializes in home-made soup, which Mrs. Evans prepares herself on the premises each day. Although the menu offers several kinds of soup, Minestrone is fast becoming a favorite, she told The Herald. Two soups are offered each day and she is considering a standard weekly menu offering certain types of soup on certain days so customers can get used to which days their favorite soup is being served.

If the hearty soups don't quite fill hungry customers,

Mrs. Evans also offers sandwiches, home-made pies, tarts and squares. Mrs. Evans doesn't bake these items herself, but a Georgetown woman prepares them fresh for her on a daily basis.

At present, Mrs. Evans is running the restaurant on her own with a couple of part-time helpers. Since she is in the store during regular business hours, she has opened her doors from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Tuesday to Saturday to serve morning coffee as well as the noon meal and afternoon tea.

Mrs. Evans will also rent the restaurant for meetings or functions and has established special rates for groups using it for charity functions such as fashion shows. Coffee and dessert could be arranged and the parking lot east of the building offers plenty of space for anyone using the restaurant.

The bamboo furnishings give it a cosy atmosphere, she feels, and the menu is designed to provide a fast, filling meal for business people and shoppers at a moderate price.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans and their three children have lived in Georgetown for 10 years. She taught at Tinkerbell Nursery School for six years prior to starting her own business.
