

Wholesale car dealer likes his new Acton site

By MAGGIE HANNAH
Herald Staff Writer
Moving from a lot on Highway 7, south of Silvercreek, to Main Street North in Acton was a step in the right direction in the eyes of Wilson Car Sales owner and manager Dave Wilson.

Not only does the new location give plenty of space for his cars, it is fully fenced, belongs to him and has room for an eight-bay auto centre to be built in the near future, where he can offer customers one-stop service at low prices.

Mr. Wilson says he went into business on his own about 18 months ago with one car. At one point, he jokes, he even sold his wife's car without telling her and she wound up travelling by taxi temporarily. Since that modest beginning, he has handled 28,000 cars, more than even some of Ontario's biggest car dealers. He attributes his high volume of sales to the fact that he prices his cars at or below wholesale price. He buys cars all over Canada but never deals through car auctions. He also sells cars on consignment at no cost to the seller.

Mr. Wilson's sales staff consists of two people, himself and Jackie Roberts of Georgetown. At present, Mr. Wilson has about 100 cars, ranging from 1980 downward. He finds big cars, station wagons and trucks sell better than small cars, he says.

In addition to his car business, Mr. Wilson also owns Raceway Motors and Collision Centre in Acton. The shop covers all aspects of collision work and painting of cars, trucks, and buses. It has one of the biggest paint booths in Ontario and can therefore house semis, trailers and buses for painting. The shop also certifies cars for $20.

Town opposed to phone rate

In response to Bell Canada's announcement of rate increases for Acton telephones, town council has passed a recommendation saying it is opposed to any increases as long as Bell maintains two separate telephone books to serve the town of Halton Hills.

Commission for the transfer of the Acton exchange to the next highest rate group.

The necessity of having to own two telephone books to cover the town was noted by Coun. Roy Booth.

"My wife phoned Bell requesting a telephone book for the Acton exchange and was told it would cost eight dollars," Coun. Booth said. "She persisted and, eventually, they agreed to send it free of charge."

Coun. Booth suggested that if enough people ask for an Acton book, Bell would eventually include the Acton numbers in the Georgetown phone book.

Bell sent a report to council saying that the monthly residential charge in Acton will increase from $6.65 to $7.15. The report states that the Acton exchange has exceeded its present rate-group limit by more than five per cent. Bell has made application to the Canadian Radio-Television and Telecommunications

Removing Odors
When odors develop in and around your waste disposers, grind up some lemon or orange rinds to deodorize the unit. A good flushing can be done once a week by filling the sink with about three inches of water and then releasing the stopper. Never leave wastes in the disposer, especially acid foods they not only leave odors but can corrode metals.

Wilson Car Sales on Acton's Main Street North offers used cars, station wagons, trucks and vans at or below wholesale prices says owner Dave Wilson. He also owns Raceway Motors and Collision Centre in Acton and boasts of having the only female car salesperson he knows in the business. Jackie Roberts shocks customers for a second, he chuckles, but they soon discover she knows her business.
