Limehouse game farm extended

Town council has approved the scaled-down version of a game farm extension to a Limehouse property. When the proposal was originally brought before the planning board late last year, it included an addition to the existing barn which was to house quail, pheasant, rabbits, sheep (totalling 42 animal units) and an abattoir. The new version reduces the animal units from 42 to five and eliminates the abattoir, to which several neighbors had objected at the public planning meeting.
