

Individuals bowlers help Golden Age standings

It is nice to note in the Golden Age bowling each week that the individual scoring winners are spread pretty evenly amongst the 11 competing teams. Every Friday the men and women alternate positions in the winning circles, with a few making more than regular appearances.

Although the points accumulated in the high single and high triple do not go toward team totals, the strong performances of these people do contribute significantly toward their team's standings.

Each team can add up to seven points a week to their previous totals. This week the first place team, the Corner Pins, held on to that position while only increasing their lead by two points to 109 while second place 747s brought themselves up by five to 103 as did the third place Blue Jays who now have 99. The Expos in fourth took a full complement of seven points to hold on to fifth spot with 96 points. That puts the Expos five ahead of the Half and Halfers who picked up five and now have 91 points. The Sluggers added two points for 87, the Rolling Pins five for 87, the Raiders three for 78, the Six Dolls two for 77, the Slow and Easy four for 74 and the Friendly Five none to remain with 70.

In individual play Al Zeravlev and Ken Ackerland were close in a couple of not-so-close scoring races, as were Anne Nicholson and Muriel Miller.

Nicholson scored a 238 with her team in the high single flat while Miller's team opposition only inspired her to roll up 183 points. Miller rebounded to outscore Kay Fryer 241-240 in the high single with handicap.

Nicholson and Miller were matched again in the high triple single. Nicholson again came through with a big 137 point spread of 626-489 over Miller. Dolly Carter and Dot Brandford were closer with just a single point separating their 676-675 scores.

For the second week in a row Ackerland came up big. He outscored Zeravlev in both the high single flat and the high single with handicap. The scores were 270-250 and 305-271 respectively. Zeravlev redeemed himself with wins over Grant Real and Tom Eason. Real lost to Zeravlev 675-643 in the high triple flat while Eason lost to him 738-659.

Squash teams take two

The Supreme Racquet Club spoiled a three-team clean sweep of inter-club men's play by the Georgetown club this week. The Mississauga club shut out the local B team five matches to none, at home Wednesday. Boyd Hoddinott and Al Eason were both defeated 3-1 while Rod Eastwood went down 3-2 and Rod Presswood was shut out 3-0. The fifth member of the visiting team didn't show up and the game was a default win for Supreme.

The other two Georgetown teams won their series' four matches to one. Thursday the C team hosted Hamilton Thistle. Alex Furness and Erwin Schandelmeyer won their sets 3-1. Dave Rivers lost 2-3 and Ray Steele and Barry Griffiths won 3-0.

The Tuesday before Oakville were in town to take on the D team. Unfortunately for them they lost four sets to one. Tom Kinkainen, Doug Ferguson, Graham Smith and Paul Davall all won 3-1 while Ron Davies was edged out 2-3.

The Johnny Masson Handicap, in memory of the honorary founder of the Georgetown Racquet Club, will be held at the end of this month, the 28th and 29th.

Business girls spiel

By JUNE CARSON

Here are some further results from the second draw in the men's section.

Monday evening, first place went to Jack Crichton's rink of Hick Kidney, Bob Smart, J. Cleary. Second place was won by Bob Jeffries rink of Ron Parego, Jim Duff and W. Kitley.

Thursday's 6:30 draw was won by Bob Harris' rink of Pearce Porter, Bob Heinmiller. Second place went to Hick Kidney's rink of Doc Russell, Jack Hogg and Bob Bruce.

Thursday's 8:30 draw was won by Graeme Thompson's rink of Tony Dehueck, Ross Bethel and Mark Dehueck. Second place went to Les Ashcroft's rink of Bob Smith, B. Steley and Ken Sidebottom.

Marg O'Flaherty had another busy week taking her rink of Eva Bradley, Marilyn Micklethwaite and Ethel Crouse to Orangeville, where they placed third in the First Annual B.G. Bonspiel. Well done, gals.

The business girls are hosting an invitational Bonspiel at the Club this Saturday, and are looking for some assistance. If you have any odds and ends looking for a new home, they would appreciate donations to their white elephant table. Thanks to everyone who helped, it was a great success last year, so let's carry on.

Good curling and see you on the ice.
