Interest rates climbing

Voters fooled again - Jelinek

Ottawa Bureau of The Herald
Voters who supported the Liberal party in the Feb. 18 election have been had, Halton Conservative MP Otto Jelinek charged last week.

Despite the campaign promise by new industry, trade and commerce minister Herb Gray that he would resign if interest rates rose under a Liberal government, Mr. Jelinek told the House of Commons, the minister is still holding his post in the face of a three per cent interest rate hike.

Mr. Jelinek, speaking in debate on amendments to the Small Businesses and Loans Act, praised provisions increasing the maximum loan to $100,000 from $75,000.

But he said he was surprised that the eligibility level for small businesses was not raised from the existing $1.5 million.

He called on the government to include venture or working capital in the amendments.

"The majority of business which experienced financial difficulties experienced them because of a lack of working capital, Mr. Jelinek said.

He said the government must commit herself to an overall policy to help small businesses deal with a broad range of issues and concerns. "We must give small business an incentive and we must give Canadians the incentive not only to invest in small business, but to keep their investment in small business."

Trade schools and apprenticeship programs must be developed, Mr. Jelinek said.

Ward 1 Coun. Terry Grubbe (left) attended the Beta Sigma Phi sorority's 49th founder's day banquet to present chapter president Betty Christie and City Council president Cheryl Beaton with a proclamation declaring the year starting April 30 Beta Sigma Phi year. The proclamation was signed by Mayor Pete Pomeroy. Mrs. Grubbe is also a member of the sorority.

More refugee classes

Although the Halton Board of Education has established a class for Vietnamese children needing to learn English in Georgetown District High School, a second class has been set up in Acton beginning Monday morning.

Merrideth Smye, the teacher helping to organize the class in Georgetown, says the class is aimed at older students who will attend high school classes once their English is good enough to do so. Since it is so late in the term, however, the students are simply taking classes each afternoon with Carmel Ewens, and English as a second language.

The children of the two new Acton boat people families have presented a problem for the class because there are several younger children who would not fit into the Georgetown class as well as the older ones, Ms. Smye says.

The board has decided to set up a second class for Mrs. Ewens at Robert Little Public School each morning and the Acton children will go there until they have sufficient English to plug into a regular classroom.

ONE-AND-ONE HALF STOREY WITH SUNKEN LIVING ROOM
Here's a smartly styled four bedroom home design which, although perfectly suited to the narrow residential building lot, contains almost 2,200 square feet of finished floor area, for present use, and over 500 square feet of unfinished floor area for future development. The crisply traditional exterior, finished in horizontal channel siding, and with front-facing bay window, brick chimney and heavy shake roof, presents the appearance of a much larger home, and would make a welcome addition to any residential development.
The deeply sheltered main entry leads into a compact reception foyer and outerwear storage area, from whence, traffic moves naturally left and down two flights into the large sunken living room, or straight ahead down the long hallway to the sunken family room. The livingroom features a cantilevered hearth masonry fireplace and a large front-facing bay window. This latter could easily have a built-in window seat installed, for those whose decorating tastes run to the traditional. The living room separates from the elevated dining room via screen wall, which affords additional decor. possibilities.
A well-planned closed-U configuration kitchen provides a step saving work triangle, generous cupboard storage and abundant countertop work surface. The adjacent dinette separates from the dining area via convenient pocket door, for ease of access from the kitchen, and also providing excellent separation of casual family meals and formal dining when entertaining. The dinette connects to the large sunken family room via optional spindle screen wall. The family room features a corner positioned, cantilevered hearth woodburning fireplace, generous cupboard storage for games and other recreational equipment, and sliding glass doors leading onto a large rear patio.
A two-piece vanity bath is centrally positioned to all downstairs areas, and a large laundry-utility and service core is conveniently central for access from the kitchen, bedroom level, and from the garage, allowing it to function as a mud room.
All four bedrooms are positioned on the second level, around the central bathroom and linen storage area. Each has excellent exposure for natural light, and generous closet space. The large master bedroom has a full walk-in closet, three-piece ensuite bath with tub, and sliding glass doors leading onto a private rear-facing balcony.
A very large un-finished area over the two-car garage is accessible from both the bedroom level and from the downstairs hallway via a separate stairway. This area could be developed as an upstairs lounge or playroom for the family with younger children, or as an office-studio for the business or professional family.
A full basement provides abundant space for the further development of additional recreational facilities, or simply for storage and workshop.
Plans for design No. 80-2197 may be purchased either by the single set, at a cost of $85.00 for the first set and $14.00 for each additional set, or by the package. Whichever method you choose, please include $5.00 for postage and handling. Ontario residents add 7 per cent sales tax.
