MAKE-UP SHOPPING DO'S AND DON'TS

- Do buy the smallest sizes, until you're sure what you want.
- Do approach buying make-up as you would a wardrobe. Start with neutral first and filling in accents later.
- Don't overlook the usefulness of store testers and free makeup consultations.
- Don't feel pressured to buy things you're in doubt about.
- Don't go by color names or by look alone. Looks can be deceiving, try everything before deciding.
- Do read labels and the quality if the labels are "Greek" ask a qualified person for help.
- Do take advantage of test cleaners use one to remove all sampled makeup.
- Do try colors in combinations the way you'll wear them.
- When testing foundation, it's best not to wear any so you can try colors on your face. To test elsewhere use neck or inner arm.
- Never use eye shadow or mascara that someone else has used for hygiene reasons. When testing, use forearm or hand.
- Talk to a professional person about your needs. The more you tell her, the better she is to guide you.
- Experiment with lip color in all forms. A color might be more appealing in another form, gloss, tint, or stick. Experiment with color when applying sheer and soft for a lighter day appearance. Darker for night or a more dramatic look.

WINTER CARE TIPS

- Hands: Cold temperatures are rough on hands and nails; massage cream in hand twice a day and into nail cuticles for extra conditioning; also wear nail hardeners for protection.
- Face: Make up for medium skin. Start with moisture cream to discourage dryness. In winter, every bit of moisturing protection counts. Get it from your makeup also with special formula; it'll also lighten up your makeup on those gray winter days.

● For light, fair skin: The lighter the skin, the paler it looks in winter, so be careful and blend makeup to a sheer finish. For more natural results, remember less is best. Start with small amounts of color. Gradually reapply until you get the intensity you want.

● Feet: Winter takes it toll on feet, so we recommend this foot soother. Soak in warm foot bath and massage with cream, so feet feel better and look better.

MAKE-UP

● EYES: A darker foundation over bulging eyelids makes them seem less prominent.

● A light shade of eyeliner will provide an extra flattering look for deep set eyes. To make eyes appear wider and larger, outline the upper and lower lids with a thin line of taupe eyeliner.

● Before putting on eyeliner, powder the tops of your lids lightly. It will not smear and will keep fresh looking all day.

To tame unruly eyelashes, try coating petroleum jelly on them lightly before retiring for the night.

● Deep blue mascara will give brown eyes an added sparkle and size, and will also make the white appear whiter.

● To bring out deep-set eyes, apply the heaviest application of mascara to the tips of the lashes.

● To make eyelashes thicker, put baby powder on lashes and apply several coats of mascara.

● Your eyebrow pencil should usually match color of your hair. But if you're an ash brown, or blonde, try a gray pencil and golden blondes should use a light brown pencil.

● FACE: When you feel that you look pale and wan, brush a light blushing powder over your forehead, cheeks and chin. You'll look in the pink.

● It may sound rather strange, but a good way to cover up unwanted facial blemishes is with green makeup; then apply your regular foundation over it.

● To make a wide nose look narrower, use a darker shade on the sides of your nose when applying make-up.

● To stretch your make-up wardrobe and to also make foundation a little lighter mix it with your moisture cream first.

● FACE MAKE-UP:

● Long face? Add width by applying blush in a rectangular shape from the centre eye to outer corner swinging up to temples.

● Round Face: To create length, blush in triangle direction under eye another one pointing down on chin. This draws attention away from width.

● Square Face? Focus attention on eyes; blush a triangle pointing to centre of eyes.

● Oval Face? The perfect face; blush along cheek bones from centre of eyes upwards and blush chin area.

About the Hills

Buoy boat trade - MP

Brampton-Georgetown MP John McDermid warned the federal government last Tuesday that the small boat manufacturing industry in Canada could be destroyed if it yields to pressures to provide duty remission on large imported sailboats. Industry, trade and commerce minister Herb Gray admitted in the House of Commons that he has received suggestions to provide duty remission on foreign manufactured sailing vessels over 25 feet in length. He also told Mr. McDermid during the question period that he is discussing the proposal with finance minister Allan MacEachern. A total of 11 small and medium-sized sail boat manufacturers in Canada have warned that the move could destroy the industry, Mr. McDermid claimed.

Pool fencing

Council has decided to send a new bylaw regulating swimming pools fences throughout Halton Hills back to staff for further study following questions from Coun. George Malby regarding fences for private lakes. Coun. Malby said Monday that Ward 2 residents might well have a small lake on their properties for swimming. When staff couldn't answer the question, the decision was made to refer it back for further study and clarification.

Council's 'platitudes'

Town council has endorsed suggestions by the Association of Municipalities of Ontario (AMO) in response to recently proposed Planning Act revisions.

Calling the resolution "eight platitudes that don't say much", Coun. Roy Booth asked last week how council could oppose something that says nothing.

"There's nothing there with teeth in it," he said.

The principles said that: "Provincial planning legislation must reflect the rights and obligation of municipally elected officials to set policies, procedures and standards appropriate to their municipality".

● Provincial-municipal consultation shall be an ongoing process in the formulation of legislation, regulations, policy circulars and planning guidelines.

● All municipalities must have an official plan with clearly stated policies on which planning decisions shall be based.

● The province, the Ontario Municipal Board, municipalities and public agencies shall ensure that all planning matters are acted upon without undue delay.

● The delegation of authority for municipal planning shall be automatic when the municipality receiving the power has met legislated criteria.

● Municipalities must ensure that all citizens have access to information and the right to notification, hearing, and appeal.

● The Ontario Municipal Board must be the final adjudicator in all planning matters referred to it in which a determination must be made as to whether or not a municipal action contravenes published provincial policy.

Halton Hills planning board staff came in for a broadside from Ward 3 councillor Roy Booth at Tuesday's meeting when he found two items on the agenda for board action which had already been dealt with at a Niagara Escarpment Commission meeting three weeks before.

A request for town comments on an application by J.C. Duff to licence his 200-acre pit on Lot 24, Concession 5 and an application by Rice and McHarg to expand a sandstone quarry on Lot 21, Concession 5 were approved by NEC three weeks ago subject to approval from Halton Hills, Coun. Booth said.

He expressed his anger at the delay in approval of the applications, which Halton Hills causes repeatedly, he said, because staff doesn't do what is requested of them and just answer the questions so council can send back an answer.

Coun. Booth said Halton Hills circulates applications to the Ministry of Transportation and Communication, the conservation authority and several other agencies including Halton region. This circulation is totally unnecessary, he said, and simply duplicates what the commission does itself. It is also part of the reason for the hold-up. If Halton Hills staff won't give an opinion on whether or not an application is good or bad in the eyes of their department until after all the other agencies have commented, they aren't doing their own job, Coun. Booth said.
