

INFLATION NO PROBLEM

There'll be plenty of fun at the big Summerfest-Pioneer Days celebration this Thursday through Saturday, and community jesters like Ron Hunt, seen here with some young admirers, will be on hand to inflate the spirits of young and old. The fun starts tomorrow in downtown Georgetown.

School drug programs are ineffective, ARF rep says

School boards must improve their drug education programs if they want to curb increasing drug and alcohol abuse among students, a representative from the Halton Addiction Research Foundation says. Peter Marks told the region's health and social services committee last week that schools have to stop including drug education programs in the physical education programs because this has proven ineffective.

Mr. Marks pointed out that a Halton high school student who takes the grade 10 health program receives about eight hours of drug education. But a student who doesn't take that course can go through high school with no formal drug education at all, he said.

Mr. Marks said as far as he knows there isn't a single effective drug education program in Ontario, but there are several states in the U.S. which have programs that could be used as models for courses in Halton.

MP helps study skills

Brampton-Georgetown Progressive Conservative MP John McDermid has been appointed to the seven-member Parliamentary Task Force on Critical Skills in the 80s.

The purpose of this committee, chaired by Liberal MP Warren Allmand, is to examine and report on requirements for skilled trades and higher skills occupations.

"A major responsibility of government is to assure our young people will have full-time, meaningful jobs when they graduate," Mr. McDermid is also the youth advisor to the Progressive Conservative caucus.

McDermid youth critic

Brampton-Georgetown MP John McDermid has been named opposition critic on youth activity affairs. Mr. McDermid was one of seven caucus spokesmen appointed last week by Progressive Conservative leader Joe Clark for the 32nd Parliament. They will be responsible for directing opposition attention in the House of Commons and in committee to affairs and issues related to the subjects for which they are concerned.
