

Concerns stall estate homes

Concerned about taking responsibility for a new private road, town council has deferred preliminary approval on the Berry Farm estate subdivision proposal.

The town planning board will be asked to reconsider its recommendation for approval in principal on the six-home project proposed by farm owner Anne Berry at its next regular meeting. The proposed site is located on Highway 25 south of Acton. Despite the board's call for a public meeting on the proposal council last week balked at granting preliminary approval when Mayor Pete Pomeroy noted that the matter of control over a private road planned for the subdivision had yet to be resolved.

The mayor said he would seek a recorded vote on the board recommendation unless its wording was changed.

"I'd like to clear in my mind that any concern about the private road is straightened out," he said, adding that he would vote against the resolution because of past problems with private roads throughout Halton Hills.

Rescued baby returns home

Tracey Adema and her three-month-old daughter, Reni, who was rescued from a burning home two weeks ago, returned home to Alberta yesterday.

Reni was sleeping in the basement of her grandparents' home on Georgetown's McKenzie Drive when a fire ignited in another part of the basement. Mrs. Vanderkooy and Mrs. Adema were unable to get the baby out of the basement because of the heavy smoke.

Firefighter Bernie Egerton and several other firefighters searched the building for several minutes. Mr. Egerton without an air pack for part of that time, before he found the baby.

Reni was taken to Georgetown and District Memorial Hospital and later transferred to Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto. She was discharged the next day.

Concerned that the resolution might be dumped entirely planning board chairman Mike Armstrong suggested its deferral to allow the board time to consult the town solicitor regarding negotiations between
