

Bylaws, signs for Acton streets

Two new bylaws and a number of pedestrian signs should cut down on speeding along Acton Boulevard and Churchill Road in Acton.

Supporting town engineering department recommendations, council decided Tuesday night to reduce the speed limit from 50 to 40 kilometres per hour along Churchill Road between McDonald Boulevard and Highway 7 (Queen Street).

A crosswalk will be painted across Churchill Road at the corner of McDonald Boulevard and a school crossing will be marked at the northern boundary of the M.Z. Bennett School playground on Churchill Road. Three "school area" signs will also be installed along Churchill.

Acton Boulevard residents can expect a speed reduction on their street from McDonald to Queen Street. The speed limit will be reduced from 50 kilometres per hour to 40.

Two existing pedestrian crosswalks on Acton Boulevard—one north of Mill Street, the other north of Arthur—will now be designated as school crossings.

Halton regional police have also been asked to arrange for school safety patrols at the crossings along Churchill and on Acton Boulevard.

Detective to join search for girl?

A Milton couple may hire a private detective to help in the search of their 14-year-old daughter, missing in Mexico since February 4.

The girl's mother, Frances Sweet, said last week the family is growing desperate as they search for an answer to their daughter's disappearance while the family was vacationing near San Miguel de Allende.

The family is afraid the missing person posters will frighten Catherine's captors into hiding her more securely or physically harming her.

Mrs. Sweet has also written to Mexican president Lopez Portillo, but has not yet received a reply.

Milton area psychic Jessie Zuest has said she believes Catherine is being confined, possibly tied up, and may be under the influence of drugs. She suggests authorities concentrate their search near the Mexican border, around a town with the name containing the word Anna.

Mrs. Sweet said she is reluctant to try telling police to search such an area on non-scientific reasoning.
