

Arabian horse prize for sale

Herald Special
Buying raffle tickets is one of those things people do with no real thought of winning the prize. Then when you find you've won you wonder what you'll do with it.

Peter Papillon of Elmore Drive was in that position until he decided to sell his winnings, a two-year-old Arabian gelding.

Mr. Papillon and his wife took his sister and brother-in-law to dinner to Toronto and then to the Royal Red Canadian Nationals. A "nice little girl" sold him a $1 ticket on a rose-grey gelding with a silver mane and tail. He put Mrs. Papillon's name on the ticket and forgot about it.

The draw was made July 5 but it was the 13th before organizers were able to contact him because he was on vacation.

Brandon Stables of Aylmer, Ont., donated the horse for the prize but he was being boarded at Gunther Arndt Stables at Vineland when Mr. Papillon went to pick him up on Monday.

Although "he's just beautiful", Mr. Papillon says he has no place to put him so he has sold him to a friend, Kenneth McGillivray of Bromo, Que. At present the horse is being stored at the Nurse farm on Trafalgar Road.

Count Negatee is only halter broken as yet but Mr. Papillon says trained horses of this type are worth up to $3,500 on the open market.

Strategy session for 4-Hers

Elaine White, the Campbellville native who won the opportunity to attend the 4-H Provincial Leadership conference at Camp Kawagama (251 km north of Toronto) two weeks ago, reports that she had the time of her life.

Ninety-four promising leaders were split into groups which decided how to plan various tasks, attended workshops on everything from news writing to canoeing, and celebrated with parties and dances at night.

Elaine says that the conference was a success because the activities were planned by the kids themselves and it was an opportunity to meet many new friends.
