

Improve health, 3rd world at walk-a-jog-athon

A chance to improve or maintain your health, a chance to participate in a community-oriented event with the whole family and a chance to help charitable projects underway in countries as far away as Lima, Peru, are all being offered at once next month by the Georgetown and District YM-YWCA.

The Y's second annual Walk-a-Jog-a-thon takes place in Fairgrounds Park September 20, raising funds through participants' pledges for Y projects at home and abroad.

Locally the funds will be used to purchase new equipment and to continue Y-subsidized courses. Assistance is also offered to any participant who has a need for financial help to register for a class.

On an international scale, the funds raised in Fairgrounds Park will help the Y maintain its commitment to the Lima, Peru, YM-YWCA, where local volunteers have already helped purchase a van for use in many Y projects.

Local Y representative Ruth Law returned from Peru this month after helping renegotiate an agreement between the Lima Y and its Ontario counterparts. The Y's Peru team acts in an advisory capacity for various communities, assessing public needs and then meeting them with programmes and aid. One such project was the establishment of a bakery.

Participation in the next month's Walk-a-Jog-a-thon will help keep your Y active both inside Halton Hills and around the world.

Garden cuke no fluke

A 21-inch long cucumber found in Albert and Ruth Neutel's Glen Crescent garden in Glen Williams chased quite a pickle last Thursday. Mrs. Neutel says the English cucumber was a fluke, but their garden contains others which are about 18 inches long. No special fertilizers were used in growing the oddity. Unfortunately, the prize vegetable was turned into a salad before The Herald could take a photo.
