

Beauty contest values questioned

Mr. and Mrs. Barrett,
What insanity can possibly have possessed both you and the Fall Fair Committee in proposing a "beauty contest" for three- to five-year olds and a baby contest? For whose pleasure do you sponsor such lunacy? Certainly not that of the children involved! They can only suffer exploitation through the bad judgement of parents and sponsoring service clubs selfish enough to enter children in the contest purely for their own gratification.

What values can a child possibly assimilate from such a contest? That society interprets her value in terms of her physical endowments? That we demean and degrade our daughters by presenting them like so many pieces of marketable merchandise? That her mind, her dignity and her being matter not at all? And what of the babies who must undoubtedly assume appropriate poses of coyness and cuteness commensurate with some judge's depraved conception of beauty? Much better that they be in the arms of loving, caring parents where they belong!

I am outraged that we parents who consciously work at offering our children a society free of prejudice and exploitation by virtue of sex, should see those misguided values perpetuated here in our own community. Surely better judgement and intelligence will prevail on the part of someone involved and this idiocy will be relegated where it belongs - in the history books!

Yours truly,
Joseph F.S. Hagge,
61 Eleanor Cres.,
Georgetown.

Not only is it degrading and unfair to the children to have them prodded and poked at, it surely is teaching them to judge and be judged by outward appearance alone. Children on their own are open minded and accepting of each person they meet, and trust each individual is a worthwhile human being regardless of how they look. Let us respect children for their judgement and learn a lesson from them.

Yours truly,
Nora Lipp,
52 Metcalfe Cr.

'Treats kids like merchandise'

Mr. and Mrs. Barrett,
I would like to remind you, the proposers of the "innovative" idea of a "Junior Miss" contest at our Fall Fair that last year (1979) was declared by the United Nations as the International Year of the Child. The focus of that year was that every child is a person and that every child has rights. Though 1979 is now history, that focus must live on in the minds and hearts of all people.

I am shocked by the fact that there are adults in our community who would propose that our female children and our babies be put on display like merchandise at a bazaar. Such "placing on a pedestal" can only condition them to believe that they will gain recognition only for their external beauty and not for their true capabilities. Let us not jeopardize the development of healthy minds and attitudes in half of our most precious resources of tomorrow - our female children. I sincerely hope that Georgetown can be "put on the map" with truly "innovative" ideas rather than those that remove the rights of the child and exploit her.

I close with a quotation from Khalil Gibran, author of "The Prophet":
"Our children are not our children. They are the sons and daughters of life's longing for itself. They come through us but not from us. And though they are with us yet they belong not to us. We may give them our love but

'Kids' pageant unfair'

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Barrett,
It was with great dismay that I read the newspaper article about your proposed baby and beauty contests. I sincerely believed that such contests were things of the past.

Not only is it degrading and unfair to the children to have them prodded and poked at, it surely is teaching them to judge and be judged by outward appearance alone. Children on their own are open minded and accepting of each person they meet, and trust each individual is a worthwhile human being regardless of how they look. Let us respect children for their judgement and learn a lesson from them.
