

About the Hills Climber's death concerns HRC

The Halton Region Conservation Authority is at a loss as to what steps it could take to stop inexperienced climbers from scaling the rock cliffs along the Niagara Escarpment in Milton in the wake of the third fatality there in the past three years. Authority officials discussed the Oct. 20 death of 15-year old Wesley Marsden of Burlington at their meeting last week, but admitted there is nothing they can do to prevent other climbers from risking their lives along the craggy precipices of Kelso Bluff and Rattlesnake Point. The Authority is still studying the possibility of organizing weekend patrols, a move recommended by a coroner's jury investigating a 1979 death, but points out that the amount of climbing through the week does not warrant weekend patrols. Warning signs are posted along the bluffs. Coroner Ivan Hunter is awaiting a regional police report on last week's death before deciding whether another inquest will be held. Mr. Marsden's fall was the third serious climbing accident to take place on Authority property in the last six months, and the third death in three years.

Grocery heaven

How would you like $100 worth of groceries free? You can "Win with Kin" by simply entering the new fund-raising draw beginning next Thursday (Nov. 6) at four Georgetown businesses. Members of the Kinsmen Club of Georgetown will be on hand at Georgetown's IGA, A and P and Loblaw's outlets, as well as Young's Pharmacy in downtown Georgetown, to sell $1 tickets for the initial draw, to be held Nov. 17.

For your $1 ticket price, you get one chance in 300 (the total number of tickets sold per draw) to win $100 worth of groceries. Winning tickets will be redeemed for merchandise at the store where the ticket was purchased, except in the case of Young's, tickets from which can be redeemed at any of the three grocery stores.

Draws will be held every other week, with tickets on sale every day at the courtesy counter of each store. Look for posters advertising the Win With Kin program.

Members of the club and their families are not eligible to enter. The draws are designed to raise funds for the new ice resurfacer installed at the Alcott Arena, which will be formally presented to town officials in the near future and is being partially subsidized through a Wintario grant.

Women and addiction

Mary Simpson of the Halton Alcohol and Drug Association Program (ADAPT) will discuss problems concerning "Women and Addiction" at a meeting next Tuesday night sponsored by the University Women's Club of Georgetown. The meeting begins at 8:45 p.m. at Sacre Coeur Church hall on Guelph Street. ADAPT is an Oakville-based program which arranges treatment for those addicted to alcohol or drugs; it can be contacted at 842-1912 or 878-4417.

For skiers and skaters

The Halton Hills Recreation Department and the Georgetown YM-YWCA have pooled their resources and will be jointly presenting an Information Night on Skiing and a Ski and Skate Exchange November 12 at Gordon Alcott Arena. The Y will be organizing a ski and skate exchange, which will be held between 4 p.m. and 7 p.m., with items for exchange being dropped off between 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. The seminar for downhill skiing will be held from 7 to 8:30 p.m., and the cross-country skiing seminar will be held from 8:30 to 10 p.m. These two seminars are being organized by the recreation department in conjunction with the Ontario Ski Council.

Winter camping seminar

The Halton Cross-Country Ski Club is presenting a skiing and winter camping show and seminar Nov. 8 and 9 at the Royal Canadian Legion, 628 Legion Rd., Burlington. Many exhibitors will participate in the unique, two-day show, which runs 4 to 10 p.m. on the Saturday and 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. on the Sunday. The first day features a winter camping seminar, 7 to 9:30 p.m., while the second day offers a beginner's cross-country skiing seminar from 2 to 4:30 p.m. There will be a small admission charge. For more information, contact Derrick May at 634-6161 or Lyn Scott at 634-2012.

Cord needs correcting

A typographical error in columnist Bob Olliver's special article last week on woodstoves and firewood resulted in the wrong measurements being given for a "cord" of wood being offered by a Milton dealer. Mr. Olliver discovered that the dealer was actually selling "face cords" measuring four feet by eight feet by 14 inches, and not 14 by eight by 14 as stated. As the article also stated, the correct measurements for a full cord are four feet by four feet by eight feet. The Herald regrets the error.

Society awards night

Acton Red Cross awaits inauguration

By LORI TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer
The announcement that the formation of an Acton branch of the Red Cross Society would soon be official was one of the highlights of the annual meeting and awards night of the Georgetown and District Red Cross Society last Tuesday night at the North Halton Golf and Country Club.

Paul Richards, president of the Ontario division of the Red Cross Society, presented the new president of the Acton branch, Henry Kroes, with a letter of intent notifying the national organization of the Ontario division's intent to inaugurate a branch in Acton.

The national organization will ratify the formation of the branch and a charter will be issued to Acton.

The executive of the new Acton branch includes president Henry Kroes, vice-president Thya Splinter, secretary Carol Prystass, treasurer Frits Dehaan, campaign chairman Bert Vanderlaan, public relations Marie Giles.

AWARDS GIVEN
The greater part of the meeting was taken up with the presentation of awards, both for service and for those who had given blood 25, 50, 75 or 100 times.

John Evans of Georgetown was the sole recipient of an award for 100 donations. Bob Girdwood, I.L. Gunby and J.H. Ford each received an award for making 75 donations.

A service award was presented to John Wickens, and a certificate of merit to Bessie Peck. Citations were presented to the Optimist Clubs of Georgetown and Acton, the Legion branches in Acton and Georgetown, the Lions Club of Georgetown, the Kinsmen Club in Georgetown, the United Senior Citizens of Georgetown, the Countess of Strathmore Chapter, I.O.O.F., and the Christian Reformed Church in Acton.

More Red Cross trainees ready for any emergency

About 20 people attended the Red Cross Emergency Response Mini Course October 28, and had a chance to put the theories to the test with a mock train disaster.

Chief instructor-co-ordinator Gord Kearsey, assisted by Blanche Gaudeketting, Garry McFadden, John Batley, Joyce Clark and Connie Nieuwof, discussed such topics as food, clothing, shelter, communications, transportation, registration, inquiry and public relations in the event of an emergency.

Upon completion of the day-long course, certificates were presented to Mary Kroes, Kym Lakin and Sandy Splinter of Acton, Kay Bailey, Ineke Booth, Roy Booth, Jackie Chapman, Lynn Clark, Shirley Crichton, Mike Dougall, Nicola Eggleton, Grant Greenaway, Shirley Kent, Gary Lloyd, Bruce Hueger, Yves Savard, Lory Schabli, and Marg Taylor of Georgetown to show they had completed the course.
