Autumn, marvellous autumn

By SUSAN DE FACENDIS
Herald Columnist

How time flies when you're having fun. Here we are, back into yet another fall season, summer already a fading memory while we attempt to recall just where it went.

There's a brisk snap to the morning air making us reluctant to leave our warm beds. Drying leaves rustle in the wind and play tag across the lawns, while the beech and maple trees, catching the last shards of summer sunshine, reach for the sky arrayed in brilliant tongues of orange and yellow flame.

Small boys have traded in their baseballs for hockey sticks and every suburban street corner becomes an arena for midget all-stars, much to the annoyance of motorists who have to wait for the play to be called before they can manoeuvre past them.

Youngsters who arose long before dawn even considered cracking during the long summer holidays, now have to be pulled, protesting, from their beds in answer to the school bell.

Pumpkins and baskets of apples reflect the colour of autumn from every roadside stand and car windows already have to be shaved of early morning touches of frost.

POOLS COVERED
Backyard swimming pools have been covered while lawns are raked endlessly, leaves spinning merrily from the tops of over-flowing bushel baskets, and gardens are dug up and mulched ready for a far-distant spring.

While the birds do not linger quite so long in the gardens any more, there is one persistent call native to the season that is heard to echo throughout neighborhoods everywhere.

"Mom, my boots don't fit anymore."
"Mom, the zipper on my winter jacket is broken."
"Where did you lose my gloves, mom?"
"Would leotards look o.k. with sandals?"
"If I wear a sweater, can I wear my sundress just one more time?"

FUR HAT
"What am I going to be for Hallowe'en? When is it going to snow? How come I can't go swimming? When can I go skating? How come you don't buy me a fur hat and coat like everyone else in my class has? I picked some chestnuts, show me how you used to play 'conkers' when you were little. Why haven't we got the pumpkin yet? Can I do the face all by myself this year? Why can't I..."

Oh, yes, all the sights and smells and sounds of autumn. Each lingering day of sunshine a reprieve from the unwelcome beginning of winter. What a marvellous season it is. Stay with us just a little longer.....

Two local women visit convention

By WINNIFRED SMITH
Herald Correspondent

Mrs. Leo Jamieson and Mrs. Slessor are delegates to the area convention held at Guelph last Thursday and Friday. Five other members from the Ballinafad W.I. also attended the convention.

Tables were turned Sunday when the young folk went upstairs for Sunday school classes. The Church service was held downstairs in order that a film strip could be shown. It was Mission Sunday and the film showed where our gifts to the mission and service fund reach, both locally and nearby in the big city.

It was announced that the Fred Victor Mission is in need of small size men's clothing. If you have any, please contact Mrs. Leo Jamieson for the necessary information.

The U.C.W. held their October meeting in the basement of the church last Tuesday evening. Mrs. Jamieson presided and called the meeting to order.

The roll call was "Quote a Bible verse on giving."

There was a good attendance at the meeting. Willa Shortill gave the devotions. The guest speaker was a Peggy Balkin from Georgetown, who spoke on women's legal rights.

Eveline Snow gave a report on the presbyterial meeting she recently attended. A few articles from the bazaar were on display and some were sold. Joan March and Eveline Snow assisted Grace McEnery with the serving of lunch and a social time was spent.

Mr. and Mrs. Colwell from Ancaster spent the weekend with the Jamiesons.

MIL AND MRS. DAVID WELSH

Couple marries by candlelight

St. John's United Church in Georgetown was the scene of a happy occasion Aug. 16 when Rev. Peter Barrow officiated at the marriage of Valerie Evelyn Schenk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Schenk of Georgetown, and David Richard Welsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Welsh of Brampton.

The double-ring ceremony was performed in a setting of lighted white tapers in candelabra, lit by the mothers of the bride and groom. The church was beautifully decorated by standards of pale apricot gladioli and white chrysanthemums.

Organist was Dale Wood, accompanying soloist Doreau Boss of Brampton, who sang "The Wedding Hymn", "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Wedding Song".

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a full-length gown with train of white organza, sweetheart neckline and long sleeves trimmed with lace and finger-tip veil. She wore her great grandmother's heirloom cameo necklace and carried a cascade arrangement of orchids and stephanotis.

Laurie Rouse, a close friend of the bride from Sudbury, was the maid of honor and bridesmaids were Robin Woodward of Mississauga and Tricia Barrow, both friends of the bride and Jan Darlington from Oakville, cousin of the groom.

Other out-of-town guests attended from London, Montreal, Vancouver, New Richmond, Collingwood, Niagara Falls and Holley, New York.

Prior to the wedding, the bride was the guest of honor at four bridal showers. The bridal party was entertained at a dinner party at the groom's aunt and uncle's in Oakville and friends held a Jack and Jill shower for them in Toronto. A stag was held for the groom in Toronto.

The couple spent a lovely week at the Gaspé Peninsula and will be moving into their home at 63 Prince Charles Dr. in Georgetown in the near future.

Air Cadets hold dance

The Car Club is now getting organized, the first draw will take place Thursday night and this will be several draws combined to catch up to date.

Last week it was mentioned about pensions. The changes are as follows: First World War veterans who served in the U.K. for less than 365 days did not receive any allowances. This restriction has now been changed.

The main changes are widows and children (dependents) of disability pensioners who received less than 48 per cent, received nothing; now they are entitled to a monthly pension on a sliding scale down to five per cent. This will be scheduled to begin Oct. 1, 1980, for those who were in the 38 per cent to 47 per cent. Then every April 1 of each year the percentage will be added until everyone is covered to the extent of the changes: approximately six years.

If anyone needs help to sort this out or knows of any widow, please get in touch with our service officer, Buster Hale, at 477-3635 or Lloyd Bord at 877-4669.

There will be an Air Cadet and Parent night Nov. 6 and a dance to raise funds for the Air Cadets Nov. 1. Contact Joe Forier for more information. Joe is still in the market for a drum and bugle instructor.

Puppy Day is just around the corner and Tut Harrison needs volunteers to sell puppies. Let's have a good turnout.

Puppies are where the Legion began. Remembrance wreaths may be ordered from Tut Harrison at 877-9263 after 5 p.m. The cost is $13.50. Puppies will be on sale Nov. 6 through 8. The Remembrance Dinner is $8 per couple and tickets are restricted to members and Ladies' Auxiliary.

Harry Kock was accepted as a new member. Make yourself known to Harry and join in.

On Friday there will be a teak shoot (darts) commencing at 9:30 p.m. The Sam Tenant Trophy was won by Bernie Postlethwaite and Burt Porter for cribbage. The darts trophy is up for grabs. The Saturday entries must be in before 2 p.m.
