

HALTON HILLS ARTS COUNCIL

Gallery Sol show opening

Gallery House Sol's annual Christmas show, "Snowflakes" begins this Saturday at 45 Charles St. in Georgetown, featuring a wide variety of arts and crafts suitable for gift-giving. Running until Dec. 14, the show is open every day but Monday. "Snowflakes" features the work of more than 60 artists, including Frank Black, Andreas Dreuters, Harry Brunt, Rudolf Bickers and recent exhibitors Marjorie Nazer and Oz Parsons. Phone 877-6460 for more information.

Georgetown Little Theatre veteran Ron Hill has the lead role in "Jack and the Beanstalk", being presented this Friday, Saturday and Sunday, as well as Dec. 5, 6 and 7, at Lester B. Pearson Theatre in Bramalea. Presented by the Pod Panto Players, the comedy's matinees are almost sold out, but plenty of tickets remain for 7:30 p.m. shows this Saturday and Dec. 5 at $2 each. Phone the box office at 744-6500.

The Brampton Musical Society's presentation of "Li'l Abner" this past weekend drew some rave reviews, and singled out for much of the attention were Halton Hills contributors, led by Joe DeGuidice, who portrayed Marryn Sam. Ralph Cunningham took the role of Pappy Cunningham, Terry Champ played one of the Cronies and wives Marilyn Champ and Vivian Cunningham served on the house staff.

MR. AND MRS. RAYMOND COLEMAN

Family provides wedding music

In an afternoon ceremony, Margaret Anne Maestas and Raymond Brian Coleman exchanged vows Sept. 20 at Maple Avenue Baptist Church in Georgetown.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Maestas of Glen Williams and is employed at the village's Nature's Emporium.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Coleman of Georgetown and is employed at De-Mold.

Rev. Edwin Mitchell officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Given by her father, the bride came down the aisle to "Trumpet Voluntary", played by her sister and brother-in-law, Elizabeth and Charles Cornwell. During the ceremony, they were joined by the bride's younger sister, Judi Maestas, on flute for the musical piece, "Come With Me."

The bride wore a traditional white chiffon gown with an embroidered bodice with a keyhole neckline and long full sleeves. The chapel-length train was complemented by the three-tiered full-length veil.

The bride carried a bouquet of pink and white roses, stephanitis and ferns.

Laura Stevens, friend of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Judi Maestas, sister of the bride, Julie Coleman, sister of the groom, Angela Ducey and Myra Cachia, friends of the bride.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore short, rose-colored dresses and carried baskets of pink and white roses and ivy.

Bob Henderson, friend of the groom, was the best man. Ushers were Godfrey Thorogood, Paul Bales, Terry Pottruff and Rob Adams, friends of the groom.

The reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church with Charles Cornwell acting as master of ceremonies. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Feldman of Langley, B.C., Mr. and Mrs. C. Cornwell of Jonesboro, Maine, the groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. V. Coleman of Toronto, and the groom's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. Coleman of Leaskdale.

After honeymooning in Maine, the couple returned to Georgetown, where they are now living in the Silver Creek
