

WI fun at Yule meeting

the Air" by Dorothy McLean, Marie Murray and Jean May, in which the members portrayed carollers, and Amy Burke's reading of "A Letter to Santa Claus", a Stephen Leacock poem.

In a competition judged by all members, Amy Burke won a prize for the nicest wrapped Christmas present. Gifts were then exchanged as "Jingle Bells" played, and Margaritte Hunter and Amy Burke helped Kay Wilson serve lunch.

Winners at the six tables in play at the Norval Community Euchre last week were Isabel Thompson, Hazel Preston, Ernie Miller, Margaret Davidson and Muriel Miller, Lone hands.

White Gift Service at Norval United Sunday had a full house, with the Sunday School taking the service.

The Junior Choir sang selections and the Teen Choir led the congregation in a new hymn, "Every Star Shall Sing a Carol". Terry Jane Moffatt read the scripture.

Linda Blair, Laurie Smith and Susan Campbell gave readings; Brenda Cleave, Carol Anne Laidlaw and Carol Reid told the story of the innkeepers; Paul Howse and Mary Anne Moffatt portrayed Joseph and Mary; Ryan Carney, Shane Carney and Alex Savage played the three Wise-men; Tina LaRoche and Martha Darling were shepherds; Daryl Moffatt and Mark Campbell took up offerings and Gail Robinson gave the closing prayer.

During the service, Rev. Walter Ridley baptised Jacqueline Linda, daughter of Susan and David Grant, and Frances Anne, daughter of Jo Anne and Gabrielle Regano.

Sympathy is extended to Betty Walker and family on the passing of her mother, Mrs. Howard (Elsie) May.

Santa the star at kids' concert wreaths, tinsel and Christmas tree decorations, symbolizing the different traditions which have arisen around Christmas. Songs included were a jaunty version of "Deck the Halls" and the old favorite, "Oh Christmas Tree".

But, as Mr. Kellington reminded the audience, one of the most important elements of Christmas had almost been overlooked. As the children wriggled and giggled in anticipation, the choir sang "Here Comes Santa Claus", and there he was, marching up the aisle, complete with elves Martin Veltman, Ed Brennan, Barb Ritchie, Cathy Jarvis and Vicky Fawcett.

It was the high point of the show as far as the children were concerned, as the elves conducted a sing-along of "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer". "Frosty the Snowman" and "Jingle Bells" and passed out candy canes to the audience.

The program wound up with "White Christmas" and "We Wish You a Merry Christmas", and received enthusiastic applause from young and old.

The concert was kept short, coming in just a little under an hour, suitable for a child's attention span.

The idea of using the story of a new Canadian's first encounter with Christmas was a novel approach which gave an added meaning to the Christmas songs.

It's difficult, if not impossible, to criticize the choir's performance at the concert. With a program consisting mainly of Christmas standards, it would have been easy for director Dale Wood and the choir to sit back and take it easy, but it was obvious that a lot of effort had gone into the performance.

The children's concert is fun for choir and audience alike. It was reflected in the enthusiasm with which the choir performed and the appreciation which greeted their efforts. The concert has become something of a tradition in Georgetown, and long may it continue.
