Alberta man was raised locally

The eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Snow of Ballinfad, Allen Montgomery Snow, died suddenly Nov. 21, in his 31st year, at Bashaw, Alberta.

Born Jan. 19, 1950, Allen was raised in the Ballinfad area, attended Blue Mountain and Limehouse Public Schools and Georgetown High School. He was a member of First Ballinfad Boy Scouts, attended Sunday School and church at Ballinfad United Church.

A resident of St. Albert for several years, he was employed with a trucking company at the time of his death. Prior to this, he lived a few years in the Thornbury area as a carpenter. He was a member of the Lions Club in Collingwood.

Surviving is his wife, Lenore, and stepchildren Rick, Connie, Shariene and Shannon. Also his parents, brothers Clare of Acton, John and Gregory of Ballinfad, sister Louise (Mrs. Joseph McClellan) of Vancouver, B.C. and Myrna-Jane of Elora.

Memorial service was held Nov. 28 at the Shoemaker Funeral Home, interment being in Fairview Cemetery, Acton.

Grants sought for phase-out

The Halton board of education will ask the province to continue grants at least temporarily for under-age children attending kindergarten to allow the board to phase out its existing policy.

The Halton board's policy has been to allow children who will be five years of age by February to attend school the previous September. The ministry of education, in a memorandum to the board, said that because this goes against ministry policy, the grants for under-aged children will not be paid.

The ministry pays a per diem grant to the board based on attendance.

Trustee Anne Fairfield said if the ministry decides not to allow the board a year's grace, it will cost Halton $100,000 to pay for the under-age children now in school.

The board also approved a motion that a delegation of trustees meet with Education Minister Dr. Bette Stephenson to discuss the ministry's decision to discontinue the grants.
