

DECKED OUT FOR HOLIDAYS

The reactions of children at Christmas brings out the magic. These "decorated" children from the Maple Avenue Baptist Church Sunday School look for all the world like a Christmas tree at the annual Christmas program held Sunday evening, for which the baby Jesus was a real baby who never cried through the whole program. Dear Santa, I have bin a bit bad. But I — I can see you are indeed a hope you forgive me. This is good girl, taking the time to good enough for a few Christwhat I want for Christmas. A doll in a basket and maby a little bit of clothes. I hope I am not asking for too much. Have a nice Christmas.

Angela Bailey 8 vears

Dear Angela. As you know, Santa loves all the world's children, but he can only reward those at Christmastime who are good throughout the year. But if you promise me you'll be a good girl from now on, I'll see about getting you the doll and the clothes. Remember, now, I'll be watching to see who's good and who's bad! Thanks so much for sending me a picture of you, too'

Love, Santa

Dear Santa.

How are you and Mrs. Claus and Rudolph? I've been a very good garl this year and my Mommy said I could ask for 3 things Please bring me Bert and Ernie dolls, a baby carriage and a new bike and don't forget my baby sister. Love, Jenny and baby Jackie 27 Marrlyn Cres., Georgetown

Dear Jenny,

ask how Mrs. Claus and Rudolph and myself are doing. That's so nice! Well, I've got your requests on my Christmas list and I'm looking for some fun things for little Jackie. Thanks for writing. Lots of love, Santa . Dear Santa,

Dear Sanla,

I just want a Raggedy Anne Doll and a toy hammer and a toy duck (a pink one). I would like a new hox of crayons and a toy tree. I would like some toy boots for a toy bear. I would like a toy hear with some boots. I want a toy banana that do's song

Love from Kori Akers 317 years old 35 Joycelyn Cres., Georgetown

Dear Kori.

Okay, let's see if I've got this straight: one Raggedy Annedoll, one toy hammer, one toy duck, one toy tree, one toy bear in boots and a box of crayons. Sounds like you might be quite busy this coming year. I can't guarantee I'll be able to find all these things, Kori, but I'm sure you won't be disappointed Christmas morning

Love you, Santa!

Dear Curtis,

So sorry to hear that you are sick with the chicken pox. I'm sure you will get better soon. I'll try and see if we have any toys left in my shop at the North Pole that you want, Thank you for the cookies last winter. They were very tasty and just what I needed on that cold and windy night. strips being torn from her, as she cringes, ducks and occasionally rallies for a blast or two herself

The unhinged Mrs. Crabtree also proved to be a favorite character as she bungles about the forest with her divining rod. Fittingly enough and despite her clumsiness, she manages to act as the perfect foil to Daisy's comic wicked-

Both Michelle Roe's performance as Queen of the Forest and Nicola Joynes' role as the Queen's awineherd present the characters of the forest court as having a little more class than their urban cousins. Damon Hughes and Kathryn Williams, the play's youngest actors, provided a "welloinked" performance as the two magical pigs who help lead to Daisy's discovery as the culprit in the lost memories

But special recognition should also go to Linda Roe and Sonia Bell, whose superb backdrop creations for the king's court, the somber, forboding forest and the Queen of the Forest's grotto, neally capped a letter-perfect production.

In fact, if there is any criticism to be made, the fault lies in the seating at the church hall, which forced kids to tiresomely crane necks to see the play, underlining the need for the new library-cultural

The result of six weeks of hard work, the play was crisply executed, funny and achieved its desired aim of temporarily removing the audience from the church hall and transporting them into a fantastical forest full of hizarre characters.
