Madill advances to top in squash club tournament

In a high-spirited club competition that took three days to complete, the Georgetown Squash club have come up with winners for eight different levels of play.

The top squash competitor in the club's "Fun Flight" series was Terry Madill after he defeated Bill Shuttleworth in three straight games. Rod Eastwood and Boyd Hoddinott both advanced to the semi-final of the 'A' round of competition, but were defeated by Madill and Shuttleworth.

Neil Cotton advanced to the final of the 'B' round after he won his semi-final match against Gary Thomas. Doug Farrugan earned the right to his final match after defeating opponent Rick West. Cotton edged Farrugan 3-2 in games to emerge the final victor.

play went to Dave Casson when he outmaneuvered opponent Jurgen Zeidler 3-2.

semi-final play. The 'D' flight consolation final was decided when Larry Scott beat Bob Walrerson 3-0 and George Wagner won over Bill Jack 3-0 in semi-final play. Larry Scott went on to win the top prize with his 3-0 victory over George Wagner.

The top women competitor in the Fun Flight tournament was Anita Warner as she outplayed her semi-final opponent Wendy Cotton 3-1 and defeated her final opponent Cassie Steen by the score of 3-2.

In the battle to find a 'B' round champion, Myra Britton and Jan Cook faced each other, but Jan Cook eventually emerged the winner.

Jane Fogal took the 'C' round top position by defeating Branda Sissett. Beryl Tyler ousted opponent Gloria Sinclair in the 'D' round.

Tourney brings out best

Organizer of the Fun Flight tournament at the Georgetown Squash club, David Steen, says that club competitions brings out the best in squash players.

"The calibre of squash noticeably improves during these tournaments," Steen says.

But another important factor with these tournaments is that it gives different club members a chance to socialize with members they might not meet otherwise. "A lot of the members tend to play during the same times so they often don't get the chance to meet other club members. Tournaments bring different people together," Steen says. Of the 200 club members, 112 signed up for the Fun Flight tournament. The tournament started two weeks ago with every person playing at least two games. The members were divided into "Flights" of sixteen squash players with the two finalists eventually competing against one another for the championship crown.
