did you ever wonder where your donation to the Cancer Society goes?

Your Cancer Society Donation Provides;

Education Program

1. Three smoking and Health Awareness Kits are available free of charge to each school in Ontario: The Cally Kit (for kindergarten to grade 3) The 4-6 Kit (for grades 4-6) and The Kit (A Guide to Decision Making and Health) for grades 7-8
2. Two new manuals on cancer for high school students are being used in social studies classes and biology classes. Adult Education programs are conducted by volunteers throughout Ontario. A cancer education program for employees of industries in Ontario is conducted by the Society's Industrial Cancer Education Service, staffed by six registered nurses.

Service to Patients

Patient Transportation:

Your Cancer Society donation means that cancer patients, in need, can count on transportation from their home to treatment centres.

Coping With Cancer: Group discussions for patients, family and friends led by health professionals working as volunteers.

Dressings: Available for patients at doctor's request.

Friendly visiting: Home and hospital visiting by carefully chosen volunteers, if requested.

Mastectomy Visiting: Volunteers who have had a mastectomy are carefully selected and trained to visit a patient following mastectomy surgery at the request of the attending physician.

Cancer Patients in Financial Need: Home nursing, Drugs and Housekeeping are available to patients in financial need.

Research

Cancer Research can only continue with your donation to help people like Kevin Snider.

Thanks to strides in Cancer Research, Kevin had a remarkable recovery after losing his leg to Osteogenic Sarcoma (primary bone cancer) 4 years ago.

Treatment is improving and if we look at all sites of cancer we find the "five-year survival" rate has risen in the last two decades from 40% to 52%.

Providing funds for research into the causes and treatment of cancer is one of the primary responsibilities of the Canadian Cancer Society. Over half of the money contributed by the public to the Society is allocated to research through the National Cancer Institute of Canada (NCIC).

The "Marathon of Hope" Research Programs Inspired by Terry Fox

The Society appreciates the tremendous public support given to the Terry Fox "Marathon of Hope" and the proceeds for cancer research, as requested by Terry Fox, have been kept separate from the other funds of the Society. It is believed that because of Terry Fox's efforts, new "Marathon of Hope" programs of the NCIC will attract promising young investigators to take up a career in cancer research. As well, the fund will give recognized scientists the challenge of pursuing new research ideas. Cancer research facilities in medical schools and university science faculties throughout the country will also be improved and expanded with the help of the "Marathon of Hope" fund.
