HONORING THEIR 'TEACHER'
Halton Pentecostal Church just outside Georgetown held a combined service Sunday morning marking Education Week with the theme "Honor your Teacher". The Stewarttown Public School Choir, directed by Katie Kirkup-Ortolon, performed two songs that were well-received by the congregation. For a full report on the special service and the entertainment involved, see Bob Ollivier's "In the Churches" column in The Herald's Weekend Extra this Friday. Most schools are holding open houses and special activities throughout Education Week. (Herald photo by Bob Ollivier)

Globe Productions troupe may be revived

What would you get if you could combine Georgetown Little Theatre with the talents of the Georgetown Choral Society? You'd get a fantastic new musical-theatre group for the community!

Back in the mid and late sixties, Georgetown residents raved about Globe Productions, a musical troupe of actors and actresses who started off doing pantomime and evolved into full-scale shows like "My Fair Lady", "Dick Whittington" and "Finian".

Well, spearheaded by former Globe cronies Ron Hill (GLT) and Ralph Urset (musical director at Georgetown and District High School), Globe Productions is scheduled for a revival, hopefully by next spring, making full use of the new library-cultural centre. In fact, one of the ironies of the former Globe Productions was that it had to perform on proper staging available in only Brampton.

If a Globe Productions revival catches your fancy, then you're invited to a special 8 p.m. meeting May 12 in Georgetown's Knox Presbyterian Church on Main Street. In the meantime, you can read full details of the new Globe idea in this Friday's issue of The Herald's "Weekend Extra".

Uptempo music will highlight Cantante's Sunday concert

The Cantante Singers, a choir of about 30 Georgetown teenage girls, have had overwhelming success since starting out two years ago. And if their recent tour of area schools is any indication, their upcoming concert May 9, will be just as well-received.

For the past few weeks, the choir has been performing excerpts from their upcoming concert "Love Is" in local elementary schools. Beatles songs, Barry Manilow tunes and other popular songs made up their half-hour repertoire, including solos by 15-year-old Brenda Archer, who wowed the crowd as a soloist at the Georgetown Choral Society concert April 26. Other songs such as "Rainbow Connection" from Sesame Street, "Daybreak" and "Spinning Wheel" complete the package.

The current change to popular songs contrasts with the group's earlier renditions of classical melodies. "We did Vaughn Williams' Magnificat at Christmas with members of the Toronto Symphony Youth Orchestra at Knox Presbyterian Church in Georgetown and at Holy Rosary in Milton. The girls are doing amazingly well," said the choir's conductor Dale Wood.

Guest artist for the evening, Dave Shrubsole, will be singing light and upbeat numbers such as John Denver medleys and other popular folk songs. Mr. Shrubsole, who is usually a "sacred singer" is president of St. John's United church choir.

Performers are wanted!

Singers, dancers, musicians, actors, magicians, jugglers and all other performers are needed for Summerfest's Old Time Music Hall. Get in on the act! Casting is now taking place for our evening cabaret being presented under the direction of Ron Hill June 20 at 8 p.m. at the Sacre Coeur Hall.

The theme will be the Gay Nineties, with a vaudeville flavor in music, singing, acting and much, much more. You name it - we can use it. Everyone is welcome to participate. This is an excellent opportunity to get to know your fellow performers and to have a great time as well.

Come and join the fun. Rehearsals will be starting next week. If you are interested and would like more details, please call Ron Hill now at 877-6217.

There is still room for more participants in the figure and portrait sketching group at the Credit Valley Artisans studio in Cedarvale Park for May and June. Phone 877-3977.

The Credit Valley Artisans will be holding their annual meeting in The Cottage in Cedarvale Park May 11 at 8 p.m. While there will be an election and introduction of a new executive and a brief business meeting, it is hoped that many members and any of the public interested, will take the opportunity of meeting and socializing with the others while indulging in wine and cheese - or coffee if preferred.

Following the final performance of Georgetown Little Theatre's "Bedroom Farce" Saturday, the door prize was won by Marina Archer of McIntyre Crescent in Georgetown.

Deaf can 'read' phone calls

TORONTO, Ont. — A made-in-Ontario device by which the deaf can "read" phone calls appears headed for world-wide usage.

The system, called Bee-Tone, allows deaf people to communicate with the community at large, ensures confidentiality and is simple to operate.

It was developed by James Doyle, an engineer with the department of psychiatry, University of Toronto, who specializes in building one-of-a-kind devices for the physically handicapped, and Willem Lancelle, a consultant in computer mathematics.

The electronic device recognizes tones generated by touch-tone telephones. It transforms these tones, or sequential combinations of them, into visual displays of letters, numbers and other symbols.

Anton Hart, vice-president of marketing for the Urban Transportation Development Corporation Ltd., along with Mr. Doyle, Mr. Lancelle, Dr. Willem Wassenaar, a senior executive in the pharmaceutical industry and S. L. Wassenaar, a lawyer, formed Millwood-LeMay Inc. of Willowdale to support development, manufacturing and marketing

Sunday, May 10th is a rosy day for Mom.

That's because it's Mother's Day. And while she's relaxing, pick up a bucket or a barrel of finger lickin' good Kentucky Fried Chicken. As a special gift, we'll give you a delicate scented yellow Rose pin for Mom.

Each scented Rose is made from the core of a specially selected Asian Wood. This wood is shaved into petal thinness and dyed into exacting life-like hues. The flower is then carefully shaped to create the true beauty of a rose.

This rose is for you mom. There's nothing like it.
