

Local inter - county tennis

In the mixed league of the C division intercounty tennis, Georgetown played matches against Regency Racquets from Brampton last Thursday and won four out of six encounters.

The team of Jim Taylor and John D'Allison had their share of problems against their Brampton opponents - especially with their racquets. Taylor's racquet broke while D'Allison's string snapped under the pressure. The local duo ended up losing their two sets 6-1 and 6-2.

Also on the losing side were the Georgetown team of Klaus Bottschen and Audrey Houston who were downed 7-5 and 7-6 while they managed one 7-5 victory over their opponents.

George Craft and Tony Hull were declared the winners after taking two sets 6-2 and 6-1 before losing 7-5. Larry Sissnett and Keith King won handily in two straight sets of 6-4 and 6-2.

In a husband and wife team-up, Linda and John Rice displayed their skills in 6-3 and 6-4 victories. Isla Allison and Mary Bottschen also won, taking their opponents 6-3 and 6-1.
