MOORE PARK PLAZA

Although the grounds surrounding the jumping course at Cheltenham's Lothlorien Farm was churned into a muddy quagmire, horses and riders still managed to put on some impressive rides on the course Saturday during the Rothmans Grand Prix and the Cheltenham Gold Cup. The competition, in which riders vie for world class points in anticipation of earning a spot in the 1982 World Cup in Goteburg, Sweden, was won by American rider Mark Leone, aboard "Tim".

Cheltenham Gold Cup

New Jersey man takes $20,000 prize

A Franklin Lakes, New Jersey native has taken home the $20,000 Rothmans Grand Prix and the Cheltenham Gold Cup following a world class equestrian meet at Lothlorien Farms.
Mark Leone, riding "Tim" swept to victory with three faultless rides at the event Saturday which saw about 30 of North America's top equestrians vie for Federation Equestre International points. Mr. Leone's win gave him 20 points and he now leads the North American East standings with 40 points.

Canadian rider Shelagh MacPherson of King, Ontario finished in second place. She and her mount, "Something Brewing" picked up three faults, although she scored a perfect ride in the first round of competition. Anthony D'Ambrosia of New York aboard "Stirling Image" and Mr. Leone's brother, Peter, riding "Semi Pro" had finishing rides with four faults each but Mr. D'Ambrosia's faster time clinched third place.

The Grand Prix included two runs and a final six-obstacle jump-off in which Mr. Mark Leone scored a perfect ride.
The Cheltenham event is one of four World Cup qualifiers held in Canada, three for the eastern league and one in Vancouver for western competitors. This year's (1982) world cup final will be held in Goteburg, Sweden.
