Herald advertising consultant Donna Brown (seated second from right) was among the dozen advertising salesmen and consultants who attended a recent four-day career development seminar presented by Thomson Newspapers at the Holiday Inn in Chatham. Thomson training supervisor T.P. Rush (holding ruler), a Georgetown resident, conducted the seminar, which included an in-depth study of creative advertising layout and copy as well as professional retail marketing techniques, with an eye to better client servicing.

CWL heeds appeal for 'helping hands'

By BRENDA AUCOTT

CWL publicist Women's League held their first meeting of the 1981-82 year recently with a mass celebrated by Father Dave Cole.

A very moving poem about the elderly was read by President Helen Callaghan as a way of introducing our guest for the evening, Val O'Hara from Halton Helping Hands.

A talk was given outlining Helping Hands and what it does in the community for the elderly and the physically handicapped.

The ActivAn project which was instigated by Barb Stevens, a co-ordinator for Helping Hands in this area, was discussed. This very worthwhile project transports people who would otherwise be unable to travel by regular means of transportation.

Unfortunately, more money and support from the community is needed to be able to continue this service. Marg Willis thanked our guest and presented her with a small gift.

A letter from the foster family in India was read. The family are all well and $120 was sent to help support them for the coming year. A thankyou letter was received from Halton Centennial Manor Ladies Auxiliary expressing thanks to the ladies of the C.W.L. for donations of baked goods for their spring Bazaar.

Anne Lysy volunteered to convene the Christmas Dinner. Convenors for the Christmas Bazaar was also discussed at this time, and also a bus trip to Elmira.

A motion was passed to purchase an altar cloth for the church. Margaret Hulme was presented with a 25-year pin by Carol Powell, Membership Convenor.

A letter was received from Justice Minister Jean Chretien acknowledging our petition sent in late spring. Tickets for the 25th Anniversary Dinner are still on sale; please contact Theresa Ford at 877-9373.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

CLERGY COMMENT
A 'simple' resolution on Thanksgiving Day'

By Rev. Jim Boyles
St. George's Anglican Church

The first frost has come, the harvests are gathered, and we approach the celebration of Thanksgiving. Are we too wealthy? Everyone will shout, "No, no, I need more!" Even though our harvests are almost always good, at times when inflation and interest rates are high, we know we do not have enough.

Casting our minds over the entire globe, however, we realize that we are so extremely wealthy - even the poorest among us - compared to so many men and women and families. Poverty and starvation are the counterpoint to our thanksgiving feasts.

One response for those who seek to act sensitively, is to share resources through the many charities or churches which provide relief and development services to Third World nations. Another response is to examine our own lifestyles. The growing numbers of backyard gardens, the interest in health foods, and food cooperatives, the introduction of no-name products in supermarkets - all may be signs of growing awareness that our lifestyle must change. It will change, of course, whether we like it or not, as the economic realities force us to spend less. To consciously set about simplifying our lifestyle, and at the same time improving its quality is a worthy Thanksgiving Day Resolution.

How long will the cry, "We want more!" be tolerated by the great majority of the globe's inhabitants who, in comparison, have little or nothing? Action on the part of ordinary citizens may seem small and insignificant, but the concern and awareness it signifies will be important parts of a more just and humane world.
