

TORONTO - The Ministry of Industry and Tourism has produced a new Ontario Travel Guide for the Disabled listing tourist attractions that have special facilities for handicapped vacationers.

The revised and expanded booklet covers more than 100 of the province's major attrac-

Information is given on accessibility of sites and accommodation, including the parking, entrance and washroom facilities. Premises that are accessible with assistance are noted.

Also listed are offices of the Canadian Hearing Society and Canadian National Institute for the Blind, provincial parks which offer comfort stations for the handicapped, transportation services, and service centres along major highways.

Another ministry brochure, Accommodations, includes a wheelchair symbol for those premises with facilities for disabled travellers.

The 100-page guide and brochure are part of the ministry's program in this International Year of the Disabled Persons.

Help in compiling the guide was given by the Ontario Advisory Council on the Physically Handicapped.

Those interested in the guide can obtain a copy from their nearest Ontario Tourism Travel Centre or order one by phoning collect to (416) 965-4008.

Suggestions on further improvements to the publication are being welcomed by the ministry.

Casserole timesavers

the way, it's time to dig to fit the particular dish out your favorite casserole you want to use for recipes.

ing, casseroles are a busy cook's best friend. They are easily adapted to largequantity cooking, so you can make enough for several meals and freeze.

If you double or quadruple a recipe, remember to adjust your seasonings, close the top of the bag since they don't always increase proportionately. Black pepper, clove, onion and garlic become stronger during frozen storage and salt loses its flavor, so it may be better to add these on reheating.

Undercook casseroles being prepared for the freezer to allow for additional cooking when you reheat, particularly casseroles containing macaroni, spaghetti, noodles and rice which become softer during freezing.

Always cool casseroles quickly and freeze immedistely to svoid bacteria. M4E 1E4.

With cooler weather on You can shape the mixture reheating, simply by lining Warm, filling and satisfy- that dish with an open medium-size "Glad" freezer bag made from freezerthick polyethylene.

Scoop in the mixture until dish is 3/4 full, then press it out until it roughly fits the dish. Remove as much air as possible and with the twist-tie provided. Label and freeze right in the dish. When solld, remove from dish and return to freezer.

Storage times vary, depending on the ingredients. Casseroles high in fat or with shell fish have a short storage life. Generally, the sooner you use any frozen casserole the better.
