

GDHS CELEBRATES

Thanksgiving studies for UCW

By KAY WILSON
Herald Correspondent
Norval United Church UCW Unit 1 met at the home of Mrs. Keith Webb Thursday with eleven members and one visitor present.

Marion Laird presided and Muriel Whey read the minutes. The overall meeting for all the church groups will be Nov. 17 in the church and George Gastle will show slides of his teaching days at Fort Resolution.

Devotional was taken by Eunice Wilson and Kay Wilson had the study on the First Thanksgiving. The origin of three popular hymns of nature were read, "For the Beauty of the Earth", "This is my Father's World" and "We Plough the Fields and Scatter".

Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mabel Terry and a social hour was enjoyed. The members were more than pleased to have Mae Shaw join them for their meeting.

Norval community Club had three tables at their biweekly euchre Thursday night. The next euchre match will be Nov. 5. In ladies, Elsie Jarvie came in first and Isabel Thompson second. In men, Phil Landry came in first and Garfield McGilvray second. Dunc McMillan won lone hands and Helen Batson the lucky draw.

Sympathy is extended to Catherine Laidlaw, Lloyd, Roy, Ralph and families on the death of husband and father Jim Laidlaw. The funeral was held last Tuesday at 1 p.m. at McKellop Funeral Home in Brampton.

Unit 2 of Norval United Church had their regular October meeting in the church basement with Elaine Crawford's group in charge of the program that had Thanksgiving as its theme. Lenore Laidlaw read the scripture, Mary Crawford the devotional and Nellie Shea the prayer. Eleanor Hyatt played a tape about the work of the church in Africa and a discussion followed on the World Council of Churches and UNICEF. The Sunday School was voted to receive $150. Traditional pumpkin pie was served and a social hour followed.

A good crowd attended the film night in Norval United Church Oct. 18.

Awards night for 4-Hers was held at the E.C. Drury High School in Milton Oct. 16. Young people from Norval winning awards were: David Wilson, Norma Wilson, Carol Anne Laidlaw and Debbie Deenik.

UCW greets old friend hears talk on Africa

The U.C.W. held its October meeting in the church basement last Tuesday evening. Members and guests arrived early for a pot luck dinner.

In attendance besides the members was Rev. Jim Kirkwood, the guest speaker, who brought along his father Jim Kirkwood, Sr., a long-time resident of Ballinafad.

Other special guests were Rev. Dr. T.G. Bandy and his wife Lynne.

When the enjoyable meal was over, president of U.C.W. called the meeting to order. After the usual opening exercises there was a brief business period.

It was then time to call on Rev. Kirkwood, who as the president remarked, to most of us does not need to be introduced. He spent all his childhood days in the village and attended area schools and church before going on to become a United Church Minister. He spent many years in Africa.

The topic he spoke on was "The Canadian concern, The United Church should have regarding Justice in Africa". His message was timely and gave one food for thought.

The meeting closed with the U.C.W. Benediction and some friendly chit-chat and handshakes were exchanged.

Wendy Hannah was welcomed, as guest speaker in Ballinafad Church Sunday. The young folk enjoyed the story she told them before they went down to Sunday School classes. Her message to the grownups was impressive and was based on The passage of Scripture about the Lady at the Well and her conversation with Jesus.

The annual Church Bazaar was held Saturday and the U.C.W. reports that it was quite successful.

Erlin and District High School commencement was held Friday evening. Ursula Eckert was among those from our area who attended. Her son, Stewart, graduated from Grade 12. He was awarded the Saint John Brevrus trophy donated by the Ladies Guild. Stewart is now in management training at Woolco in Meadowvale.

When Penny Shortill toured Europe some months ago, she made many friends. One in particular was Pete Smith from New Zealand. He promised to visit Canada some time. He kept that promise and recently spent six weeks holiday with the Shortill family.

Among events taking place at the community centre in the near future, besides the monthly dances, the hall board has planned a Euchre for Nov. 6. Plan to go. If this first one proves successful, there will be more. Bring a card table please, if you have one not in use.

Mrs. Leo Jameson recently returned from visiting her mother in Scotland. She reported her mother to be quite well and she wished to be remembered to her many friends in Ballinafad.

We extend sympathy to the many relatives of the Burt family living in this vicinity. Elmer Burt of Georgetown passed away over the weekend. There are brothers and sisters as well as nieces and nephews left to mourn his loss.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Will McLean who recently became grandparents for the first time. Their daughter and son-in-law became the proud parents of a little son.

Board rejects equal time bid for schools

A motion recommending that special interest groups which request permission to speak to students on potentially controversial issues be denied permission unless equal time is given to an opposing group was rejected at a Thursday night meeting of the Halton board of trustees.

"We didn't feel secondary schools were the place for contentious issues," said trustee Betty Walker.

She said that granting permission to address students to special interest groups is currently at the discretion of the director of education and the principal.

THANKS FOR A JOB WELL DONE

Over 70 Herald carriers turned up to munch hamburgers at the Georgetown McDonald's outlet on Guelph Street last week. Harvey Jonkman of Georgetown and Debra Mellon of Acton were rewarded for their efforts as Herald Carriers of the Year by publisher Paul Taylor and circulation manager Marie Shadbolt (left). The two youngsters were presented with awards and $10 cheques. That's Marilyn Champ, McDonald's activities representative, in the centre. (Herald photo)
