

ALASKAN PIPELINE?

No. underground parking for the library-cultural centre is not being created by all the construction work going on in the large lot behind the McGibbon Hotel-Silver's Department Store blocks in downtown Georgetown. William Hollingsworth and Sons Ltd. of Corney, Ontario has been hired by the town to replace some aging storm sewers in the vicinity. Judging by the size of those pipes it's no small chore. The town's works department expects the work will be completed shortly. (Herald photo)

Getting to know duplicate bridge

In today's hand the contract of 4 hearts is tried no less than four times and made only once. This result is possible only with aggressive defence both in the bidding and the playing of the hand.

The east-west pair is awarded to three east-west pairs who defeat the contract two tricks at 4 hearts. Two north-south teams try a no-trump partial and are awarded an average plus for their efforts. Look for the line of play that makes 4 hearts and the second line of play which upsets the same contract two tricks. This was the hand.

THE ANALYSIS

North-South may roll into a poor 4 H contract on a sequence such as pass, 1H, pass, 2C, pass, 2H, pass, 3H, pass, 4H. West will probably start the jack of spades (his best lead - he should not lead the K of clubs since he doesn't want a ruff holding 4 trumps), which on the surface looks bad for the defence, but will almost certainly cause declarer to start trumps from the wrong hand.

After covering in dummy and taking east's K, North is likely to lead a trump to the jack. Now defenders take two trump tricks, one club and a spade. If west leads the C-K, South might deduce West has trump length and take the precaution of first finessing diamonds to lead a small heart from dummy.

Regardless of how the defence goes, South can later employ east for ten tricks. Since 4 H is likely to go down, N-S will score an above average score if North does not fall victim to the point count system and takes a dim view of his one ace, no kings and square hand.

North-South winners at the Georgetown Duplicate Bridge Club were Kay Campbell and Grant Real followed by Arthur Kwei and Bill Dinan. Third place was held by Duke Wilson and Fred Allen. East-West winners were

Danny Ioannidis and Maureen Walter with Jack Kaarmaker and Gundy Kistemaker holding second spot. Third place in this section went to Elsie Whitham and Norma Maynard. The Georgetown Duplicate Bridge Club meets every Tuesday evening at the Georgetown Legion Hall and welcomes all bridge enthusiasts who would like to play. The club guarantees everyone a partner so come out and enjoy the fun. Game time is 7:45 p.m. sharp.

CAS honors two area women who improved children's lot

Herald Special Two people associated with the Halton Children's Aid Society have been honored by the Association for Early Childhood Education for making significant contributions toward improving the quality of life for young children. Carole Holmes who has done a considerable amount of contract work with the agency has been selected as recipient of the Ontario Children's Service Award for her commitment to improving opportunities for the development of young children. Previous recipients of this award have been Dr. Margery King, Dr. Robert Bates, Barbara Chisholm, Marilyn Sue Billett, Elsie Stapleford and Dr. Joseph Jacobs.

Margaret Morrison who is the Manager of the Alternate Care Department of the Halton Children's Aid Society has been awarded the Halton Children's Service Award for her work in preventing child abuse. Not only has Ms. Morrison conducted workshops on child abuse throughout Ontario and the state of Illinois, but she has also published articles in the International Journal and the Ontario Association of Children's Aid Societies Journal. By recognizing the recipients of the Children's Service Awards, the Association for Early Childhood Education hopes to inspire others to continue their service to children.
